COMPLAINTS OF SHIPPING RATES

Hon. G. P. Graham Declares St. Lawrence Route Being Discriminated Against by British Marine Companies

EXCESSIVE CHARGES MUST COME DOWN

Imperial Commission Promises Full Investigation—Conference Hears of Pacific Port Developments

LONDON, Oct. 17.—The Canadian complaints respecting shipping were formally laid before the Economic Conference this afternoon and were promised full investigation by Sir Halford Mackinder, chairman of the Imperial Shipping Commission. The complaints were: 1.—That insurance rates on the St. Lawrence route were excessive. 2.—That the rates charged by British ships on both Canadian and United States ports discriminate in favor of New York against Canadian ports.

Promises Action Hon. G. P. Graham, who submitted the complaints, remarked that, while of long standing, they had not been remedied. He pointed out that Canada had spent millions of dollars in making the St. Lawrence safe for shipping and intimated that if something was not done to give British ships the same treatment as the United States, the matter of insurance rates a company would probably be established in Canada for the purpose of insuring St. Lawrence traffic.

"The Canadian government merchant marine," declared Mr. Graham, "already carries its own insurance under the Canadian National Railways." Regarding the rate on four, Mr. Graham read a cable he had received from Canadian millers protesting against the discrimination in favor of New York. Such a state of affairs, Mr. Graham claimed, was a stumbling block in the way of development of Inter-Imperial trade. Either the Canadian miller had to pay a higher ocean rate or he had to give his business to the United States railways.

Port Development Mr. Graham reviewed what had been done to develop Canadian ports, mentioning the encouragement to the shipping of wheat by way of Vancouver and the Panama Canal. His remarks were preceded by a statement of Sir Halford Mackinder on the work done by the Imperial Shipping Commission, which was originated by the Imperial Conference of 1918.

Sir Halford made an interesting announcement regarding the bill of lading. He referred to the difficulties which had arisen by the British shipowner having a right under the British common law to consign his cargo out of his liabilities by endorsing his bill of lading. This, however, was at variance with the law in the United States, in Canada and in Australia.

"We went to work," added Sir Halford, "and we determined in the end unanimously to recommend that the shipowner should be allowed to contract himself out of his liability and we recommended that throughout the Empire the Canadian Act should be accepted as a model. That is what we try to have similar conditions right through the Empire."

OKLAHOMA'S FLOOD AREA IS EXTENDED

Eastern Section of the State Being Desolated—Eight Believed to Have Lost Lives in City

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 17.—Sections of Eastern Oklahoma are being engulfed tonight by the same flood which struck Oklahoma City and vicinity Tuesday with such devastating effects. Probable death toll in Oklahoma City from the flood was brought to eight late tonight when authorities, penetrating further into the stricken regions, reported six persons missing. It is considered almost certain that they were drowned when the savage waters washed through their homes on the south side. Two are known to be dead.

Anglo-Russian Firm To Finance Export Of Russian Grain

LONDON, Oct. 17.—An agreement was signed in London today for the formation of a Russo-British grain export company, the Russian trade delegation announced. The company will be composed chiefly of Russian and British interests on the Russian side, and of representatives of government and co-operative organizations on the British side of the co-operative wholesale societies and grain and shipping firms. The purpose is to finance exports of Russian grain to Europe generally. Leading British banks are prepared to finance the scheme up to £1,000,000 it is stated.

Woman Conducts Marriage BRUSSELS, Oct. 17.—For the first time in the history of Belgium a woman today performed a civil marriage ceremony. The wedding occurred at Chene, near Liege, and the woman was Madame Magis, a member of the City Council.

Tragedy or Victory From Hunger Strike Republican Promise

BELFAST, Oct. 17.—Tragic results or else a "notable victory" may be the outgrowth of the hunger strike begun by the soldier prisoners in Mount Joy in Dublin a few days ago, according to a republican manifesto put into circulation from the Free State capital. There are about 13,000 prisoners in the jail, says the manifesto, which continues: "When the hunger strike spreads to the other camps and prisons, the people may be prepared to be shaken from their apathy by a tragedy or a victory unparalleled in the history of the nation." The manifesto states that all the Mount Joy prisoners have taken an oath to refuse food or drink until they are unconditionally released.

Minister Says Plan Is Most Fantastic

Hon. Dr. MacLean Condemns Proposal of Union of B. C. Municipalities for Provincial Government to Carry Whole Cost of Education—Also Opposes Giving Municipal Councils Control of Schools

DUNCAN, Oct. 17.—The proposal of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities that the whole cost of education be borne by the Provincial government was the most fantastic and retrograde suggestion he had ever heard made by a body of public men, Hon. Dr. J. D. MacLean, Minister of Education, told the convention of the British Columbia School Trustees' Association here this afternoon.

Defends School Boards

HON. DR. J. D. MACLEAN

Record of Councils The Minister, in the course of a lengthy address, defended the educational system of the Province against various criticisms, and dealt with various proposals advanced in regard to it. He attacked the plan of the Union of B.C. Municipalities to have municipal councils take over the control of the schools from the school boards, declaring that the record of councils in the past was a strong argument against such a move. The two most outstanding functions of a school trustee, said Dr. MacLean, were those of appointing teachers and providing school accommodation. While trustees were an intelligent body of people, they had not the special training which permitted them to know the strong and weak points of teachers in the school act of appointments, it was wise to consult the principal—in the case of graded schools—the provincial inspector, and in the case of the larger centres—the municipal inspector.

RETAIL MERCHANTS STATE OBJECTIONS

NOT SATISFIED WITH PREMIER OLIVER'S ATTITUDE

Businessmen from All Parts of Province Will Lobby to Abolish the Personal Property Tax Failure to secure definite action by a representative body of British Columbia businessmen, who waited on Premier John Oliver at the Parliament Buildings yesterday morning, in an effort to obtain relief from the personal property tax, called forth severe criticism of the Premier at a meeting held in the quarters of the Victoria branch of the Retail Merchants' Association, Saturday evening.

Premier Oliver, when the delegation called upon him yesterday morning, stated that no announcement of the Government's policy in connection with the tax could be made until after the opening of the Legislature. He admitted that the proposed tax was in effect an income tax, and stated that if the Government was to rely solely on income taxes, the proceeds from such would fluctuate materially between periods of prosperity and depression, while "fixed charges the Government was forced to meet, such as interest, sinking fund and administration expenses, remained constant."

SAWMILL OWNERS WILL ERECT PLANT

Vancouver Interests Ready to Install Central Heating System in City If Given Charter

VANCOUVER, Oct. 17.—Vancouver sawmill proprietors informed the civic and police committee, through Smoke Inspector J. Reynolds, this afternoon, that they are willing to erect a central heating plant at a cost of at least $250,000 if the city will grant a suitable franchise to a local company to be promoted to handle the plant.

Mill proprietors would contribute $50,000 to start the company, and would guarantee the financing, it was announced. They propose to burn about 2,000 tons of mill waste from plants in the city and vicinity daily and pipe heat to large downtown buildings.

The scheme, if adopted, would, it is held, largely mitigate the smoke nuisance in Vancouver. A special committee, consisting of Aldermen Tracy, Almond, Gibbons and Scribbs, was appointed to investigate the proposal. It is understood that an effort will be made to prepare a by-law to be submitted to the ratepayers at the annual municipal election, December 12.

FOOD MEASURES ALLAY TROUBLE

Prompt Steps to Provide Berlin's Starving Unemployed With Food Bring Riots to End for Time Being

RUSSIA SUMMONS TROOPS TO COLORS

Move Taken to Mean Soviet Government Preparing for Likely Outbreak in Germany—French Raid Bank

BERLIN, Oct. 17.—Measures announced by the municipality to aid the unemployed were followed today by quiet in the trouble centres of Greater Berlin, where mobs, composed of thousands of idle workers engaged in food rioting yesterday, resulted in the wounding of more than a score and at least one fatality. Today there was no sign of disorder.

Among the measures announced by the city authorities in the way of relief, were the immediate opening of fourteen feeding kitchens for the distribution of free meals and free allowances of wood and coal.

MOSCOW, Oct. 17.—Soviet Russia today called upon the three territorial classes of 1898, 1899 and 1900 for territorial army training. Simultaneously there appeared in the official newspaper Ivestia a striking cartoon depicting a stern-visaged red soldier watching the Polish border, with the caption: "The Russian soldier is on the frontier of his patience." The calling-up of the territorials is in line with the long contemplated plan of the Soviet government, which has no particular significance, but it is obvious from declarations made on all sides that the Moscow government, while seeking to avoid a direct participation in the German struggle, nevertheless is taking no chances that it will be unprepared.

ORCHESTRA PLAYS AS THEATRE BURNS

Blaze on Stage of Vancouver Moving Picture House—Audience Quietly Flies Out

VANCOUVER, Oct. 17.—Fire broke out on the stage of the Capitol moving picture theatre here tonight but over a thousand people were sitting in the auditorium.

The orchestra, comprising about twenty men, played steadily on with a blaring panoramic cur in scorching their faces.

The asbestos curtain was lowered, and the orchestra still playing, when the last member of the audience had quietly left the theatre. So far as is known nobody even left a hot behind.

UNITED CANADA IS PARAMOUNT ISSUE

Towards That Great Work Canadian Press Is Doing Vital Work, Is Statement of Editor

VANCOUVER, Oct. 17.—C. Norman Smith, editor of The Ottawa Journal, and president of the Canadian Press, arrived here today on a visit to the Coast. Asked for his opinion on the question that the Panama Canal has divided Canada into two trading areas, Mr. Smith replied: "Thanks to Canadian Press, Canada is still one news area. So long as Canadian newspapers stick together and maintain that single press wire from Victoria clear across the Dominion to Halifax tickling with Canadian sentiment and Canadian news, we do not need to worry how many areas our transportation and trading is divided into, so long as those divisions are economically sound."

"That one wire will hold them all together as Canadians, and this, after all, is the condition of vital importance."

Mr. and Mrs. Smith will leave for Victoria Thursday night.

MIXED JURY FAILS TO AGREE

VANCOUVER, Oct. 17.—The first mixed jury in British Columbia disintegration on a charge against Wong Hoy accused of stealing $50 from a Sikh. Hoy said the complainant owed him money and he was trying to recover himself. Vancouver's Outlays Exceed Estimates

VANCOUVER, B.C., Oct. 17.—Over-expenditure in civic departments for 1923 is expected to amount to a total of $148,000 and provision has been made to meet the extra administration costs with exception of anticipated over-expenditure of $25,000. This was the gist of a financial statement submitted to the civic finance committee today by A. J. Pilkington, city comptroller today with detailed reports on the receipts and expenditures for the first nine months of the year.

NO PREFERENCE FOR LABOR PARTY

ANY IMPERIAL PLAN WILL NOT BE BINDING

Mr. Arthur Henderson Declares If Labor Gains Ascendancy Such Scheme Will Be Repudiated

DURHAM, Eng., Oct. 17.—The Labor party's disapproval of Imperial preference was officially voiced by Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, M.P. Labor leader, in the course of a speech here tonight. He stated that what Premier Bruce, of Australia, had asked for at the Imperial Conference was the full programme of the tariff reforms. The proposed arrangement in regard to Empire sugar, said Mr. Henderson, raised a serious issue of principle apart from its fiscal aspect. The government proposed to bind Great Britain to maintain the existing preference of four shillings three and one-half pence a hundredweight for a period of ten years, but no government was entitled to give such a guarantee.

Reproduction On behalf of the Labor party he declared a pledge of this kind would not be held as binding on a Labor government if it came into power.

The producers, continued Mr. Henderson, will be well advised to discontinue this pledge offered by the Baldwin government, as it had no binding effect except on the government which made it.

Mr. Henderson said there was a strong agitation in Canada against the preference given in the woolen tariff to the British export woolen manufacturer, who is alleged to be injuring the woolen textile industry of the Dominion.

CONSERVATIVES MAY DROP CONVENTION

Ottawa Opinion Adverse to National Gathering—Hon. Robert Rogers Wants Cancellation

OTTAWA, Oct. 17.—"In so far as the Ottawa end of the Conservative party is concerned, the idea of a national convention this year has been wholly abandoned, nor is there much likelihood of one being called at all under their auspices."

After the last election, when a gathering of Conservatives was held, and Mr. Meighen chosen as party leader, a committee to arrange for it was appointed. It has had several meetings, the ultimate conclusion reached being that, because of the expense and other reasons, a convention is not necessary.

"While this position reflects the view of the party leaders here, a considerable demand from the outside has been expressed by Hon. Robert Rogers and others, for a convocation of the faithful for stimulating effects if nothing else. It is suggested that they make the initiative themselves and ignore the latter attitude of those more directly assigned to the convention arrangements."

BANK OF MONTREAL AIM OF BANDITS

Desperate Attempt Robbery of Branch at Greenwood, Manitoba, but Flee

GREENWOOD, Oct. 17.—A daring attempt to rob the Bank of Montreal branch here was made at an early hour this morning, by several bandits who, after cutting all telegraph and telephone wires, made an unsuccessful attempt to blow open the door of the vault in the bank premises.

The bandits were disturbed by a citizen, who was fired at by one of the robbers, who made good their escape in high-powered cars.

LIEUT.-COL. FORSTER WILL GO TO FRANCE

Products Bureau of the Board of Trade, is leaving within a few weeks for a position in Paris. He will be assistant manager to General R. Brunel, C.B., C.M.G., who has been engaged since the armistice in rehabilitation work in France and Belgium, with large dealings in Greece and Roumania.

REVOLUTION WILL NOT SECURE REPARATIONS

International Commission to Determine Germany's Capacity to Pay Only Alternative to Force and Violence, Declares Mr. Lloyd George in Endorsing Secretary Hughes' Proposal

United States Prejudiced By Condition of Europe

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—The blindness of force and violence is the alternative to a policy of determining through careful examination the capacity of Germany to pay reparations, David Lloyd George declared in an address tonight at the International Amphitheatre in the heart of the stockyards district. If Germany is refusing to pay, he added, the Allies can by such means determine that point, and then force payment by marching together in any enterprise that is necessary. Reiterating his endorsement of the proposal of Secretary Hughes for an international commission to ascertain Germany's capacity to pay, the former Premier declared that this was the only way to settle the troublesome question. Discussing the situation in Europe with its exhaustion after the war, and the reparations question as the most acute phase of the situation, Mr. Lloyd George declared that it was a fatal mistake to drive the German population into despair.

British Squadron To Visit Victoria

LONDON, Oct. 17.—The battleships Hood and Repulse with a light cruiser squadron will sail about the middle of next month on their Empire tour. They will proceed by way of South Africa to Singapore, thence by way of Australia and New Zealand to British Columbia, where they will probably arrive about June. From British Columbia the Hood and Repulse will proceed through the Panama Canal to Halifax and Quebec, the light cruisers visiting South America. It is expected calls will be made at several United States ports en route.

The entire cruise is planned to take about ten months. The Hood is the biggest battleship in the navy and represents the last word in naval construction.

IF FORD PRESIDENT GOOD MAN SPOILED

SUCH IS OPINION OF MR. THOS. A. EDISON

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Cheap power, short working hours and much leisure for all, are in sight, thinks Thomas A. Edison, the inventor, who today submitted to be interviewed by newspapermen on a variety of subjects.

To make Henry Ford president would be to "spoil a good man," he thinks. Commenting on the unpopularity of new ideas, Mr. Edison declared that it took from seven to forty years for the initial demonstration of a beneficial device to its ultimate acceptance.

"I made the first dozen typewriters," he said, "and it took me seven years to convince the public they wanted them, and then another three years to sell them."

TEST OF SEAPLANE PROVES ITS WORTH

New Vickers-Vimy Machine, Just Arrived at Jericho Beach Station, Possesses High Qualities

VANCOUVER, Oct. 17.—The Jericho Beach station of the Royal Canadian Air Force presented all the aspects of a flying circus this morning, when the new Vickers-Vimy seaplane took the air for the first time. The test flight, lasting nearly an hour, was pronounced an unqualified success.

Escorted by two B.E. 20s, the seaplanes which have been in use at the station during the past two years, the new "biplane" flew in circles over English Bay. With its 260-horsepower Rolls-Royce engine humming beautifully, it literally sailed past the two older boats, which cannot develop more than seventy-five miles an hour air speed.

Squadron Leader E. A. Godfrey piloted the new machine in a series of exhaustive tests, and when he landed he declared the boat to be one of the best he had ever driven. It made 105 miles an hour in the air.

TORONTO-VICTORIA STEAMSHIP SERVICE

Great New Coast to Coast Route via the Panama Canal Will Soon Be Inaugurated

TORONTO, Oct. 17.—Ontario industry will be linked by water route with the British Columbia market this Fall as a result of the inauguration of the first direct steamship service between Toronto and Victoria by the Kilkenny Line of this city. On November 20 the all-steel freighter J. H. Plummer will steam out of Toronto's harbor with a cargo of Ontario merchandise bound for Canadian Pacific Coast ports. It will sail via the Panama Canal, and the trip will take thirty-five days one way.

Thousands Hear Him

Speaking after a day spent in seclusion recovering from effects of a cold and fatigue, Mr. Lloyd George showed little evidence of illness. The address was delivered with force and deliberation to an audience of 10,000. Amplified carried his voice to the furthest corners and caught up the answering applause. Wireless telephones carried the address farther to unnumbered thousands.

Mr. Lloyd George termed his address "a calm, unemotional, un-rhetorical and fair and unbiased view of the position of Europe."

He began by remarking that the condition in Europe is of importance to every business community, and while the United States can afford to put up with European disturbances better than Great Britain can, yet he had found evidence since his arrival that these disturbances were prejudicially affecting some important sections of producers in the United States and in the end would harm them all. Representatives of the farmers, he said, had informed him that they are suffering because of the serious impairment of the purchasing capacity of Europe.

Hungry and Naked

"Europe is like a ragged man standing in front of the plate glass window of a well-stocked store," he said. "His need of clothes is infinitely greater than that of the well-dressed man who is making extensive purchases inside. His need of food is more urgent than that of the well-fed gentleman who is coming out after a good meal; for he can buy neither food to satisfy his hunger, nor clothes to cover his nakedness. Until European prosperity is restored, that continent cannot be relied upon as a customer for world products."

"What is the matter with Europe? Exhaustion. Europe is exhausted after the most terrible struggle any continent ever passed through. Between ten and fifteen millions of her picked young men were slaughtered on the battlefields. Many more died of the pestilence which was the gruesome partner of war."

War's Awful Toll

"Twenty millions, at least, of their best men have been mutilated and have become a burden upon the resources of others. One hundred and eighty thousand millions of dollars was spent or lost by the belligerent countries in waging war and scattering desolation. The machinery of trade and commerce is almost completely shattered."

"Hunger and plagues still stalk through Europe, destroying young and old with their cruel fangs. Every day I read of bread riots where men are shot down in search for bread to feed their hungry children."

"How many children died as a result of the war? No one can tell, but the recording angel is keeping an accurate account of every little head that droops. This is the condition of Europe five years after the war is over."

Looks for Recovery

Mr. Lloyd George expressed confidence in the ultimate recovery of Europe from the ravages of war. One of two disturbing elements, he said, are retarding recovery. He termed these "subsidiary and local irritations."

First among them he mentioned the Russian revolution, but said he would not dwell on it, "but things are improving rapidly in that quarter."

"Undoubtedly the most serious local disturbance is that which is associated with the question of reparations," the former British Premier declared. "Upon that I should like to dwell, for it is the problem of the moment. It is more, it is the problem that dominates the future of world peace. I propose to give the British view of this problem, not merely mine, but that of two governments that succeeded mine, insofar as I am able to appreciate their attitude."

What "Semi-trimmed" means to you

INVENTED BY A CANADIAN
The Staunton factory has been making wallpaper since 1856—a long time for a Canadian manufacturing concern to have existed.
The semi-trimming process—invented by a Canadian—was developed and perfected by Staunton Limited, who hold exclusive rights for manufacturing semi-trimmed wallpaper.
The 1923-4 Staunton line surpasses everything previously manufactured in the decorative capabilities of the goods and in the beauty of its range.

THINK of it! At last the troublesome part of paper-hanging has been eliminated—a job of papering can now be done in quicker time, with less disorder, and at considerably less cost than ever before.
Semi-trimming is the achievement of a century in wallpaper manufacture. In course of printing, the selvage is cut for you. It does not need to be removed by scissors or knife and straight-edge. You simply give the ends of the roll a rap on table or floor and the selvage falls off. Think what it means to you to save the time of trimming and to save the litter of sticky selvages. What is more, you are assured of perfect results. Being cut at the correct place, Staunton Semi-Trimmed Wallpaper is easily matched, and looks like one piece on the wall. There is no spoilage through incorrect trimming, either.
All who hang wallpaper will find it to their advantage to use Staunton Semi-Trimmed Wallpaper. It saves Time—Labor—Money.
Ask your dealer to show you the patterns.

MAKES POSITION OF CANADA CLEAR

HON. G. P. GRAHAM AT CONFERENCE MEETS CRITICISMS

Dominion Ready to Do All to Assist Imperial Cable, But Factors Intrude, He Claims.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—Canada has made her position on the Imperial cable question clear. At yesterday's sitting of the Economic Conference Sir Laming Worthington-Evans, British Postmaster-General, criticised some of the Canadian Government departments for not using the Imperial cable which is operated between London and Halifax by the British Government, its traffic being distributed in Canada over Canadian Pacific Railway telegraph lines.

In reply, Hon. G. P. Graham, Canadian Minister of Railways, pointed out that the Canadian Government was willing and anxious to do everything in its power to assist the Imperial cable, "but," he said, "it must not be forgotten that the Canadian National Telegraphs are being operated as a business proposition." Continuing, Mr. Graham said: "We are prepared to have an interchange of traffic with the Imperial cable but you can not expect the Canadian National to hand their messages over to the Imperial cable if the National gets no traffic in return. If we are to get traffic for the Imperial cable we should get something for our own National lines in exchange. We want reciprocity in traffic."

Wireless Difficulties
Touching on the difficulties which have arisen between the British Postmaster-General and the Marconi Company over the operation of the British wireless stations in the Empire chain, Mr. Graham, although the official communiqué of yesterday's conference proceedings does not refer to it, stated the attitude of the Canadian Government.

"The differences between the British Government and the Marconi Company," he said, "are purely a domestic matter, but so far as we are concerned we have given a licence to the Marconi Company. We do not care with what station it links up in England. That is for you to decide."

Mr. Graham pointed out that wireless had been widely developed in Canada, which now had about 230 stations. He also went into details as to Canada's postal arrangements and discussed criticism made in certain quarters that Canada was charging only three cents on letters to the United States while charging four cents to Great Britain. He explained that Canada was merely following the United States and had not led the way in the matter of postage. The rate from the United States was only two cents and as a matter of business Canada had been compelled to give a three-cent rate on letters to the United States.

While postal rates were under discussion, Sir Laming Worthington-Evans expressed the view that it would be impossible at the present time to consider the restoration of the penny postage.

Mr. Graham replied that Canada was an adherent of the Berne Convention. The meeting of the postal convention in London next year would afford an opportunity not only

Mr. Lloyd George in Toronto

Britain's great war premier addressed between fifteen and twenty thousand people gathered to hear him in the space before the Toronto City Hall. In spite of a cold and a bad throat he made himself heard by the use of a megaphone. He warned his Toronto audience that another great world war may come because "Europe is filling her cellar with deadly explosives."

to the members of the British Empire, but to all the nations in the world, to discuss the question of postage.

West Indian Cable
Under the proposed new arrangement for the West Indian cable service, Canada's contribution will be about six thousand sterling annually. In comparison with the present subsidy of eight thousand. The basis of the agreement is that Canada will contribute in the proportion to which she now subsidizes a private company. That is the general principle of the agreement but it is dependent on the costs being kept within the estimates.

There is a proposal under discussion at the Economic Conference to merge the Imperial Institute with the British Bureau of Research to save expenditures. This Institute was erected as a memorial to Queen Victoria's Jubilee and it acts largely as a clearing house for information of Empire resources. South Africa, India and Australia, previous to the conference, withdrew their financial support from the Institute.

Sir Lomer Gouin, Canadian Minister of Justice, stated Canada's position. In agreeing with the idea that the memorial to Queen Victoria should be perpetuated, Sir Lomer supported the amalgamation plan. He expressed the willingness of the Canadian Government to pay its share of the £8000 contribution which was to be distributed among the Dominions. This would be a considerable contribution from the present contribution.

MINING INSTITUTE MEETS AT TRAIL

Victoria Delegates Late in Arriving—Important Discussions Followed Session on Ore Treatment

NELSON, Oct. 17.—Attended by over fifty mining engineers, smelter experts and metallurgical men from all over the Province of British Columbia, as well as officials of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company's large smelting plant, the general meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, British Columbia division, opened at Trail this morning.

Owing to the lateness of the arrival of the Vancouver and Victoria members, numbering seventeen, the opening session was delayed somewhat. Mayor A. J. Martin and James H. Schofield, M.P.P. of Trail, welcomed the visitors and extended them the freedom of the city.

A resume of the Institute from its inauguration to the present day was given by Thomas Graham, of Cumberland, divisional chairman, who presided over the meeting. Practically the whole of the morning session was devoted to the mining and treatment of ores of the Sullivan Mine. Excellent papers dealing with the establishment and progress of the Sullivan Mine, from the time of its discovery in the nineties, to the present day; treatment of the Sullivan ore at Trail, and detailed descriptions of the huge Kimberley concentrator, were given. Those delivering papers on this subject were Messrs. F. G. Blylock, W. M. Archibald, E. G. Montgomery, James Buchanan, George Murray, R. A. Stimmel, J. J. England, R. A. Diamond and E. M. Styles.

This afternoon's programme includes a luncheon, a visit to the Trail Smelter, and a visit to Roseland.

Latest Battle Cruisers and Lighter Fleet Will Come First, Lord of Admiralty Announces

It was announced that H.M.S. Hood and Repulse, with a light cruiser squadron would visit Canada on an Empire-cruise.

The Hood is a battle-cruiser of 41,200 tons, and was launched in 1918. The Repulse is a battle-cruiser also, of 28,750 tons, and was launched in 1916.

QUOTA REGULATION AT BORDER POINTS

United States Takes Steps to Prevent European Immigrants Entering Via Canadian Ports of Entry

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—In an effort to avoid the rush of immigrants that has clogged ports of entry along the Canadian border, United States immigration officials plan to make full use of an old agreement with the Canadian Government.

This agreement, made before the present system whereby immigrants are admitted in monthly quotas came into effect, allows United States officials to inspect arrivals for the United States at Canadian ports of entry.

It is now planned to utilize fully the terms of the agreement and, according to immigration officials at Washington, the quota law will be applied at the Canadian ports and immigrants in excess of the quota will be returned to Europe from Canadian ports.

Recently a large number of immigrants desiring to enter the United States have come through Canada and rushed into United States ports of entry immediately the quota was available. This has led to extreme congestion.

COMMON AIMS AND PURPOSE TO RULE

Lord Haldane Holds Stability of Empire Relations Not Based on Rigid Bonds

LONDON, Oct. 17.—Speaking at Edinburgh University last night, Viscount Haldane said the time was coming when changes would have to be made in the British constitution. Great Britain had overcome the majority of her difficulties with regard to the Dominions; she had made the Privy Council Imperial, and had an Imperial general staff at the War Office.

He said he would like to see the navy and the civil service united in the same way and believed the efficiency of the government of the Empire would thereby be substantially raised. Evolution, said Lord Haldane, was always taking place throughout the Empire. When stability of relations was secured, it did not come from rigid bonds, but from common ends and purposes and common appreciation of each other's aims and interests.

So long as Great Britain and the Dominions worked together, constantly studying each other and developing their common ends, so long they would likely hold together. The moment they tried to tie up the Empire in some Imperial federation, symptoms of perils would appear. Therefore it seemed to him that a written or rigid constitution would be wholly inappropriate to the British Empire.

STABILIZES CURRENCY BY NEW GOLD BANK

German Government Approves Plan to Which Industrial and Banking Interests Must Contribute

BERLIN, Oct. 17.—The cabinet last night approved a bill granting a charter for a so-called gold annuity bank, whose capital will be furnished by industrial interests, banking and commerce through compulsory hypothecation of their realty and other holdings.

On the basis of such material values the bank will be empowered to issue interest-bearing obligations or annuities computed in new currency, which is specified as "renten" or annuity mark, which will rank as legal tender.

The present bill specifies that the newly founded bank is to place 1,200,000,000 new gold marks at the government's disposal, in return for which the Reichsbank will cease to discount the government's treasury bills, thus placing it in a position to accomplish an immediate curtailment of inflation.

MOTORMAN GETS ACQUITTAL VERDICT

D. J. MATHESON FOUND NOT GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER
B.C. Electric Employee Cleared by Assize Jury of Responsibility for Death of Little Child

Daniel John Matheson, motorman of the B.C. Electric Railway Company, was acquitted in the Assize Court yesterday of the charge of manslaughter, on which he had been committed for trial in consequence of the death, on August 6 last, of two-year-old Constance Barker, who died in hospital following injuries received when she was run over and dragged along Catherine Street by the Victoria West, by the Gorge line electric car driven by Matheson.

The trial jury returned with its verdict after half an hour's deliberation. The speech of Mr. H. B. Robertson, B.C., counsel for the defence, was extremely brief, and was mainly concerned to show that the evidence, which had been concluded on both sides on the evidence, pointed to the fact that the defendant had done all in his power to avert an accident, which, in all the circumstances, was inevitable. Mr. Oscar Bass, prosecutor, in his references to the accused, and he intimated that the case was one where the Crown should be most scrupulous to maintain its historical role in British criminal procedure, that of an impartial investigator of all the facts. It was not the primary duty of the prosecutor, said Mr. Bass, to try to send people to prison.

The charge to the jury, as given by Mr. Justice Murphy, was conceded by lawyers present in court to be a model of impartiality and lucidity. The learned judge defined the crime of manslaughter with great care, and applying his definition to the case at bar, he charged the jury that in order to convict the accused, it must be shown that the little girl had been killed because the accused had failed to perform a legal duty. The judge further emphasized the responsibility which rested upon the jury, in a case where there was no suspicion of wilful desire to commit crime, by his detailed explanation of that principle of law by which a man may not be convicted if there is any reasonable doubt of his innocence.

"You are a more important element of this trial," by the judge, in a passage in which he reminded the jury that they were the sole judges of questions of fact. "If I make a mistake, there is fortunately a tribunal to mend that mistake. If you make a mistake, although it is not impossible to set it right, it is a very much more difficult matter."

Mr. Matheson was warmly congratulated by many persons in the courtroom as he left it after his acquittal.

FOUND GUILTY ON CRIMINAL CHARGE

APPEAL WILL BE TAKEN IN JACK STEELE CASE

Jury Out for Nearly Five Hours Before Reaching Recommended Mercy

The grand jury was released from its labors yesterday afternoon after returning a true bill in the case of Jack Steele, charged with the seduction of a girl under the age of sixteen. On another count of the indictment, against the defendant, the youth of eighteen, in which a more serious offence was charged, the grand jury returned "no bill."

Ald. A. E. Todd, foreman of the grand jury, in answer to Mr. Justice Murphy, said that the jury had decided that there was no purpose to be served by the prosecution in their jurisdiction to visit and report upon public institutions within the county. In the case against Jack Steele a verdict of guilty was returned by the jury, with a recommendation for mercy on account of the age of the accused and a further recommendation that closer supervision of the halls should be exercised. His lordship remanded the case for sentence.

Notice of appeal was given by Mr. Brethour, which was taken by the court when it sits this morning at 10 o'clock.

The court sat in camera to hear the evidence of Miss Jack Steele, who was defended by Mr. W. A. Brethour. The judge ordered the courtroom cleared as soon as the jury had been sworn. No useful purpose was served by the relation in public of the painful story to be given in evidence before the jury, said Mr. Justice Murphy. He expressed his regret that the jury should be so exposed to the details of the case, and he would count upon their discretion in reporting the trial.

At the close of the evidence for the crown, Mr. Brethour moved that the issue be taken from the jury, on the ground that the corroborative of the girl's story was required by the criminal code, had not been adduced by the prosecution. The judge refused to accede to the request, and the defence rested its case with the call of witnesses. In closing his charge the judge commented that the case was one of great difficulty for the jury. The jury were absent from 8:30 until 10 o'clock before they brought in their verdict, returning several times during that time for directions.

The last day on the present calendar will go to trial today when Arthur Thorpe will face a jury on the charge of manslaughter, the indictment arising out of the death of Thorward Birkland, killed in a motor accident on Beach Drive, Oak Bay, on October 4 last, when the car driven by the accused overturned after striking a rock in the road cutting near the golf links. Thorpe was committed from the Oak Bay police court. He is defended by Mr. R. C. Lowe. The crown will allege that there had been drinking among members of the party, and that the car was speeding.

Mrs. Helen Richardson, the sole woman juror on the petit jury panel, was not drawn for jury duty yesterday, and the consequent curiosity of the spectators as to whether the verdict of Tuesday would be repeated, was allowed to go unquenched. On Tuesday the lady was stood aside by the exercise of the prerogative challenge right of the crown.

AGAIN WILL ASK INCREASED GRANT

TRUSTEES WANT GOVERNMENT TO ASSUME LARGER SHARE

Convention at Duncan Supports Victoria Board's Resolution Against Giving Powers to Councils

DUNCAN, Oct. 17.—In spite of the declaration of the Minister of Education in reply to last year's resolution, the British Columbia Teachers' Association will again ask the Provincial Government to increase the rate of assistance given towards the payment of the salaries of teachers. It was decided at this morning's session of the organization's convention here.

The resolution passed came from the Duncan and Nanaimo Lake branch and reads as follows: "Whereas, the rate of assistance that the Government gives toward paying the teachers' salaries was fixed many years ago; and

"Whereas, the cost of living and the scale of teachers' salaries have increased enormously;

"Resolved, that the Government readjust the rate of assistance given towards the payment of the salaries of teachers."

Inspector A. C. Stewart, Victoria, declared that the Provincial Government of British Columbia was more liberal in its contributions toward education than other provinces of Canada.

Delegates pointed out that methods of taxation had to be considered in comparing the Government's assistance as compared with that of other provinces.

Trustee C. Sivertz, of Victoria, opposed the resolution, claiming that communities should realize their responsibilities and shoulder them.

The resolution asking larger grants was finally adopted.

The rural resolutions committee, a section of the resolutions committee, reported that the resolution from Maple Ridge School Board, asking that the curriculum in superior schools include dairying, fruit growing, poultry raising and bee-keeping, was out of order as the Boards at present had the necessary authority.

As Trustee T. Davidson, Maple Ridge, pointed out, some relief from the present necessity of providing a special building, etc., was desired owing to the cost. He was authorized to bring in a new resolution along these lines.

Must Guard Rights
A warning that a close watch must be kept on the efforts being made to have school matters placed under the control of municipal councils instead of School Boards, as at present was sounded in the convention.

With a unanimous vote the gathering passed a resolution from the Victoria School Board, disapproving of the stand taken by the Union of B. C. Municipalities in favor of having municipal councils handle school business.

Trustee Beckwith pointed out that the Union was putting up a strong fight to give the municipal councils control of school affairs. He thought this would be a huge mistake, declaring that the change would be detrimental.

He urged the association to fight the Union in this matter.

If the control was shifted to council, domestic science and manual training courses would be jeopardized and undoubtedly technical training would be opposed, said the Trustee.

Trustee J. E. Wain, Point Grey, said that he would like to see even more drastic action taken and a move made to have school boards made completely independent of municipal control.

Support of the Victoria resolution was given by Trustee C. Sivertz, Victoria. The convention unanimously supported the Victoria delegates.

Sick Leave Clause
While the feeling was expressed that the provincial authorities were interfering with the rights of school boards in the matter, the association today refused to move against the present legislation providing for ten days' leave a year with pay for teachers.

Objection was taken to the slipping in of the legislation without the association being notified.

President J. Harwood, Vernon, asserted that the Teachers' Federation should provide sick benefits for its members.

Trustee J. Cheetham, Nanaimo, favored sick leave, but the Government had usurped the prerogatives of school boards, which should be allowed to give sick leave or not as they saw fit.

Trustee C. Tivertz, of Victoria, supported the present legislation. If it was feared that teachers were present during illness in order to secure a holiday, medical certificates could be asked for.

In view of the feeling throughout the Province against educational cost, Trustee J. Beckwith, Victoria, thought it unwise on the part of the teachers, from their own viewpoint, to press for the sick leave.

The Duncan Consolidated School Board wanted the elimination of the School Act provision requiring school trustees to visit public schools at least once a month. The convention decided to ask that the word "periodically" replace "at least monthly."

Additional delegates to the convention arrived here today for the second and third days of business. The new registrations are as follows: Delegates—Mrs. T. K. Hanks, Cumberland; A. Howell, New Westminster; W. M. Dwyer, Duncan; Mrs. E. Crete, Cobble Hill; J. McConnell, Chilliwack; C. W. Mackenzie, Cobble Hill; R. Pugh, Chilliwack; Charles Parker, Chilliwack; Dr. E. J. Rothwell, New Westminster; Joe Wheeler, Surrey; Charles W. Webb, Chilliwack; Horace Manning and Len Manning, Revelstoke; John Flewin, Port Simpson; Frank V. Hobbs, Cadboro Bay, Saanich.

Visitors—Dean H. T. J. Coleman, University of British Columbia; J. G. Lister, Vancouver Technical School; Bryce H. Wallace, Duncan Parent-Teachers' Association.

ONE CLAIMANT LESS FOR MURDER REWARD
Proceedings in County Court to Determine Who Shall Get $10,000 to Come on Next Week

One of the three claimants for the $10,000 Lorenz murder reward was eliminated yesterday, when Judge Lampan, sitting in the County Court, ruled that Bonville W. Beaumont should be barred from non-appearance, after having been served with notice of the proceedings by the Attorney-General's department. Hearing of the issue by which it will be determined to whom the reward is to go was adjourned until next Tuesday. The remaining claimants, Messrs. Harry H. Macdonald and Hann Kiewak, were respectively represented by Messrs. R. C. Lowe and H. W. Lawson.

Appearing for the Crown, Mr. W. D. Carter, K.C., Deputy Attorney-General, explained that his department desired that the rival claims should be determined in a court of law, and according to the procedure of a civil trial. In connection with the apprehension and conviction of the murderers of the late Ernest Lionel Lorenz the police had received information from three different men, who had each preferred claims to the reward. The case of one of the Crown were unable to decide between the claimants, and had therefore paid the money into the court, pending the decision of the judge.

Mr. Lowe insisted that the claims of the various parties be set out by affidavit, as had been done in the case of his own client, Mr. H. H. Macdonald. Mr. Carter asked that Bonville W. Beaumont, who had been served with notice of the proceedings and had failed to appear, should be barred from further claims upon the Government; and the learned judge made an order to that effect. On the request of Mr. Lawson, who desired further time in which to file an affidavit, the hearing was adjourned until next Tuesday, when there will be further argument as to whether the proceedings shall be by summary procedure or by a formal issue, with one of the parties named as plaintiff and the other as defendant.

STAGE OPERATORS TO OPPOSE NEW TAX

Suggestion of Legislation Arouses Owners of Busses, Who Will Make Protest

A meeting of the stage operators running out of Victoria was held in the auditorium of the Chamber of Commerce, when the good attendance showed the feeling that had been aroused by the report that it is the intention of the Provincial Government to enact legislation at the coming session whereby operators of busses and stages would be taxed $250 per year for each car operated.

Similar action is being taken in other parts of the Province, it was reported, and a deputation will shortly wait on the Government to protest against the imposition of the proposed tax, it being felt that it is beyond the power of the operators to pay this and still operate on the same scale of remuneration. It will mean, according to those affected, that if this tax is enforced the residents of the districts served by these stages will be forced to pay more for their accommodation.

A committee was appointed at the meeting to arrange all details of the campaign which will be inaugurated to prevent, if possible, this tax becoming law. It is the intention of this committee to circulate petitions in the various districts of the Province served by bus lines, and they are confident that there will be no trouble in securing thousands of signatures to these petitions.

The Council of the Municipality of Saanich will be asked to name a representative on this committee, being interested in the question through their operation of the Lake Hill bus service.

Ward One Conservatives Re-elect Mrs. Mary Monteith Chairman—New Executive Installed

Mrs. Mary Monteith was re-elected chairman of Ward One Liberal-Conservative Association at the annual meeting last night. Mrs. Francis Walker was returned as vice-chairman, with Mr. J. Ivan Seabrook as treasurer; Mr. Charles Espley as assistant secretary, and Mr. W. H. Price as secretary.

Mr. J. Hinchliffe, Conservative member for Victoria, was the principal speaker. He attacked the Provincial Government's administration of the lumber industry, and declared that over a million dollars worth of logs had been lost to the Province as a result of the failure to eliminate exportation of unmanufactured logs.

Victoria member pointed out that the prosperity of Port Angeles depended largely on the importation of British Columbia logs in the unmanufactured state, and that the concentration of the manufacturing in Port Angeles had lured hundreds of Victorians to the other side.

Mr. Hinchliffe scored the Government for its failure to call a by-election in the riding of Port Angeles, which he had declined to have anything to do with his suggestion that no seat should remain vacant for more than six months.

President Gus Lyons of the Victoria Liberal-Conservative Association, emphasized the need of harmony among all elements of the party in order to insure complete success at the next trial of political strength.

Craigflower F.T.A.—The Craigflower Parent-Teachers' Association held its annual meeting last Friday evening. After the reading of the year's report by the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Lorimer, the following officers were elected: President, Mr. William Washington; vice-president, Miss Sjolander; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Biles; members of executive, Mrs. McLeod, Mrs. Merry, Mrs. Lorimer, Mrs. Parker and Mr. Biles; social committee, Mrs. Holmes, Miss Gordon, Mrs. Woodley, Mrs. Burby, Miss Turnbull, Mrs. Wilkinson and Mr. Parker. The sports club of the school has expressed a desire for sweaters and it was decided to fund the funds from the first card party should be devoted to that object.

Death by Misadventure—Mr. William Hunt, 66 years of age, of 3144 Washington Avenue, who was killed in the Leigh sawmill, Point Ellice, last Tuesday morning, came to his death by accident, according to the verdict rendered by the inquest jury empaneled by Coroner E. C. Hart yesterday, at the Thomson funeral establishment. The evidence showed that Mr. Hunt was employed at the mill to operate a gang saw for the splitting of four-foot bolts of fir into laths. In some way he put a second bolt into the saw before the first was clear, with the result that the bolt was violently shot back, striking the man in the head, and killing him instantly. No blame was attached by the jury to any person in connection with the fatality.

Crown Halls Proceedings—When the case of Rex vs. Stanley R. Ready was called on remand before Judge Lampman yesterday, Mr. Alexis Martin, acting for the Crown, said he had been instructed by the Attorney-General to apply for a stay of proceedings, for the reason that the case did not appear to be one for the criminal courts. Mr. W. H. Bullock-Webster, acting for the defendant, strongly protested against such a procedure, and said that his client, who had been charged with the theft of office furniture, was entitled to be arraigned and to be found guilty by the judge. The prosecution had proceeded out of what was a partnership dispute, and the defendant was entitled to be tried in a criminal court. Judge Lampman held that the motion asked for by the Crown was sufficient to answer all purposes.

MANY RESOLUTIONS BEFORE CONVENTION

If Bible Reading Is Introduced Into Schools, Will Likely Be From Standpoint of Literature

DUNCAN, Oct. 17.—A reiteration of its previous request that material councils be compelled to make a special levy of one mill to provide School Boards with funds for capital expenditure was decided upon by the British Columbia Trustees' Association here this afternoon.

The convention declared that the new regulations regarding releasing teachers who have secured other appointments were unsatisfactory and authorized the executive to meet with representatives of the teachers, as done on the last occasion, and draft new proposals.

The association refused to ask for the abolition of the promotion system in regard to entrance and high school classes.

The Happy Valley School district's resolution, protesting against daylight saving, was endorsed.

Feeling that there was a danger of insufficient attention being given to the public school subjects on which no entrance examinations are required, New Westminster wanted the Department of Education to consider having an examination each year, one of those subjects now exempted, the one chosen not to be announced beforehand. After considerable discussion the convention refused to agree to this.

The School Boards will be circulated for opinions as to the best time of the year to hold the association conventions.

Liquor Profits—It was complained that councils were paying the liquor profit earmarked for education to the School Boards as part of their funds for ordinary expenditure. The association in favor of Bible readings in the schools, which this money definitely authorized by the Legislature as for capital expenditures for schools.

The questions of whether ministers should be permitted to be trustees or teachers and of Bible readings in the schools were briefly discussed this afternoon and will be taken up again tomorrow. Both matters are now treated in one resolution but a move will be made to separate them.

A delegation from the Nanaimo Ruridean Conference waited upon the executive this morning to speak in favor of Bible readings in the schools. It appears likely that if Bible reading is agreed to by the convention it will be from the standpoint of literature and history study. The delegation before the executive is said to have been agreeable to this.

Entertained Visitors—Prior to a concert by the Cowichan Amateur Orchestral Society, at which Mr. Wilfred A. Willett conducted, given in honor of the convention, there was a banquet in the Cowichan Women's Institute rooms. Trustee W. M. Dwyer, chairman of the Duncan Consolidated School Board, occupied the chair, his board and the Duncan Parent-Teachers' Association being hosts. The Parent-Teachers' Association was represented by its honorary president, Mr. A. B. Thorpe and Mr. William Stacey, and president, Mr. R. R. Kirkham. Among those attending were Mr. Kenneth C. Duncan, M.P.P., Mr. H. E. Prevost, president of the Board of Trade, and all the leading visitors and delegates to the convention.

The famous Nanaimo resolution telling of the decline of church power and the need of some simple form of moral instruction and suggesting a form of pledge in regard to stealing, damaging property, etc., came up this afternoon. The resolutions committee reported that it agreed with the principle of a pledge but thought the details were a matter for individual Boards. It recommended that the resolution be not adopted. Adoption of the committee's recommendation was moved by Trustee Shaw, Nanaimo, who made no reference to the controversy over the resolution which resulted in the resigning of its sponsor and the disavowing of it by the Nanaimo Board. The convention is scheduled to close tomorrow afternoon.

LABOR WILL HAVE MUNICIPAL SLATE

Trades Council Names Committee to Interview Candidates—Secretary Woodward Remains

The Trades and Labor Council decided last night to enter actively into the Victoria municipal elections this year, and a labor slate will probably be presented to the electors when the nominations are filed in December.

A special committee composed of Delegates C. F. Moriarty, P. R. Smith and J. A. Green, was appointed to interview prospective labor candidates, and efforts will be made to induce Ald. R. A. C. Dewar to stand for re-election.

Secretary E. S. Woodward warned the Council that private interests would probably interfere with his duties in connection with the Trades and Labor Council during the next two or three months, and for that reason he offered to resign. The Council, however, declined to accept his resignation, and Mr. Woodward agreed to continue in office.

BURNS CLUB ENTERS ON ITS SECOND YEAR

At First Annual Meeting Interesting Address Is Given on Old Edinburgh—Officers Elected

The Victoria Burns Club held its first annual meeting on Tuesday evening in the rooms of the Victoria club, Campbell Building, when over seventy enthusiastic members assembled under the chairmanship of President John Hsieh to hear the report of the club's activities during the past year and to elect officers for the ensuing season. In his report the president, referred to the many delightful and profitable evenings that members had spent together last winter and made special reference to the success of the annual dinner, and the quarterly oration delivered on that occasion by Mr. Bruce Walker, of Winnipeg, in proposing the "Immortal Memory" of the national bard. Mention was made of the satisfactory membership of the club in view of the fact that there had been no special canvass for members. In matters financial, the balance was found to be on the right side. From the enthusiasm and interest displayed at the meeting it would seem that the club has before it an active and prosperous year.

During the evening an interesting and instructive address on "Old Edinburgh" was delivered by Mr. William Mackay, who has recently come from the Scottish capital to make his home in this city. Mr. Mackay took his audience through the highways and byways of the ancient city, visiting the Castle, Tolbooth, Holyrood and other places of general interest, and peering again the streets and structures with those historic characters whose names are so intimately associated with the bygone days of the capital's life. His own reminiscences of the city and its notable figures during the latter part of the last century were listened to with close attention, and his statement that he was present at the last public execution that took place in Scotland brought to his hearers a sense of the vast changes that have taken place in public opinion within living memory. The many humorous anecdotes with which the address was interspersed were particularly enjoyed. The hearty vote of thanks accorded Mr. Mackay showed him how much his remarks were appreciated.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Honorary president, Hon. R. P. Toimie, M.P.; honorary vice-president, Mr. J. G. Brown; president, Mr. John Hsieh; vice-president, Mrs. R. B. McKicking; secretary-treasurer, left vacant for the present; executive committee, Messrs. C. A. Boyd, Messrs. A. McKeachie, W. H. Cochrane, G. C. Grant, H. M. Wright and R. B. Law.

During the evening delightful vocal selections were rendered by Mrs. Shaw, Mrs. William Wright and Mr. Pirih, accompanied by Mrs. Jaffrey. The club meets the second Tuesday of every month during the winter and there is always a welcome for those who are interested in its objects, which are chiefly to study and promote interest in Scottish art, literature and history. Announcements of the meetings will be made each month in the press.

There was a large company present, and the gifts, which were numerous and beautiful, were brought into the auditorium by little Daphne Johnson, who looked like a little fairy in a dress of lavender organdie. The feature of the entertainment was the tombola, the tickets being drawn by Dr. Douglas Hunter, and won by the following: Miss A. Buxley, 245; Mr. W. Randall, 231; Mrs. Cannon, 192; and Mrs. Wolfe, 193.

Winners of the 500 prizes were, at the first table, Mrs. Dwyer, Mrs. Cronk, Mr. Miles and Mr. Hughes; second table, Mrs. Cole, Mrs. Smithurst, Mr. Croftall, Mr. Hunt; third table, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Rose, Mr. Waters.

Mr. Gibson proved to be a most capable master of ceremonies, and the evening was a thoroughly enjoyable event.

MISS VIOLET GIBBS WEDS MR. O'CONNELL

Many Guests Attend Pretty Marriage of Popular Couple at St. Andrew's Cathedral

A marriage of much interest was solemnized at 8 a.m. on Tuesday at St. Andrew's Cathedral, when Violet Mary, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Gibbs, of 349 Sylvia Street, was united in marriage to Michael, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Connell, of Princess Avenue.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and looked very charming in a white gown of opalescent beaded georgette with embroidered veil and orange blossoms. Her shower bouquet was composed of Ophelia roses and maidenhair fern. Attending her as maid of honor was Miss Josephine O'Connell, sister of the bridegroom, wearing a handsome dress of blue duchesse satin and pink georgette and fur. Miss Sisay Thomas acted as bridesmaid, very charmingly gowned in pale mauve georgette. Both maids wore black picture hats and carried bouquets of pink carnations. Miss Hilda Thomas was flower girl, wearing a pink silk dress and carrying a basket of pink and white cosmos.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Dominic, as groomsmen. Mr. F. X. O'Neil acted as usher. Miss Marguerite McKay presided at the organ and very ably rendered the wedding march.

A reception, which was largely attended, was afterwards held at the home of the bride's parents. The rooms were prettily decorated with autumn foliage and cosmos. The bride and groom stood beneath a bell of white asters to receive congratulations. They were assisted in receiving their guests by the bride's mother, gowned in a dress of nigger brown and Oriental trimming and hat, and also the bridegroom's mother, attired in navy blue and fawn tricot with black satin hat.

A dainty breakfast was served, the bride cutting the three-tier cake, which was made by the bride's mother and iced and decorated by Mrs. Frank Marshall.

Many beautiful and useful presents were received. The bride's gift to the groom was ivory military brushes. The groom's gift to the bride was a traveling case; to the bridesmaids, vanity cases; to the flower girl, a gold locket and chain; to the best man, gold cuff links; and the usher, a silver watch. Amongst the presents was noticed a case of cutlery from the employees of the Dominion Public Works, where the bride has been employed for the past two years.

The happy couple left on the Sol Duc for a honeymoon to the Sound cities amidst a shower of rice and confetti. The brides going away dress was an embroidered in steel beads and brown marabou trimming. A handsomely embroidered velvet coat and chic hat completed her toilette.

The following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Gibbs (father and mother of the bride), Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Connell (father and mother of the bridegroom), Mr. and Mrs. Bert Gibbs and daughter Joan, Mr. and Mrs. John O'Connell, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. E. Big lasting suds—one secret of Rinso's amazing power to dissolve dirt. If you don't get lasting suds, you have not used enough Rinso.

After soaking, only the most soiled clothes need a light rubbing with dry Rinso.

Your clothes don't need boiling if you use Rinso. But if you like to boil your white cottons, use enough Rinso solution to get the suds you like.

NOTE: In hard water it takes from 1/4 to 1 package of Rinso to a tub to make good suds. In very hard water you will need from 1/2 to 2 packages to a tub to get the big lasting suds that loosen all the dirt.

Soak an hour or more (Colored clothes only half an hour)

ANNIVERSARY TEA OF AGED LADIES' HOME

Many Visitors Called Yesterday Afternoon to Extend Congratulations—Residents Entertained

The sixty-one residents of the Aged Women's Home felt very much the centre of attention yesterday afternoon. The twenty-fifth anniversary of the institution was being celebrated, and a continuous stream of visitors passed through the doors between the hours of 2 and 5 o'clock. After looking through the exceedingly comfortable rooms, and stopping to chat with some of the aged ladies who are bedridden, either from the infirmities of advancing years or owing to accidents, the visitors proceeded through the flower-decked halls to the dining hall. Here they were joined at tea by a majority of the residents, as well as by members of the committee who were acting as hostesses for the day, to whom they extended cordial congratulations. Many entered their names on the register before leaving.

The home continues to carry on the excellent work for which it was formed, with very humble beginnings, more than twenty-five years ago. Mrs. Clay, president of the present committee, was in the hall yesterday to welcome visitors, and in one of the nearby rooms Mrs. Garner, one of the two original old ladies who entered into residence in the first home opened two and a half decades ago, was ready to greet the many friends who have come to regard her as one of the inseparable features of the institution. Owing to a recent fall, which resulted in a fracture of the hip, Mrs. Garner is confined to her bed, but she had a ready smile and word of welcome for all. Another of the original residents was Mrs. Fairbairn. Mrs. (Capt.) Gould and Mrs. Carn, two of the three who formed the original committee of the home, were also among the reception committee yesterday. Mrs. William Grant, who has been a member almost as long as Mrs. Garner, was present. Others who assisted in receiving were Mrs. Vincent, Mrs. Whittier, Mrs. Simon Lecker, Mrs. Raviston, Mrs. Harold Grant, Mrs. Heddle and Miss O'Brien. Mrs. Carn entertained the tea hour with an impromptu programme of piano selections which everyone greatly enjoyed, and Mrs. Chivers Shaw contributed delightful vocal selections.

The Aged Ladies' Home was housed first of all in the old French Hospital, and as the number of residents increased it was found necessary to enlarge this on two occasions. Still becoming overcrowded it was decided in 1908 to build a brick house, and the present building was opened in 1914. The house has recently undergone renovation, and it was because of this work that the anniversary tea was postponed for some months past the actual date of the opening.

The home has accommodation for sixty-three residents, so that it is just two short of the maximum number which it can take. All through its history there has hardly been an appeal for assistance, the committee finding the finances. Yesterday's silver collection is almost the first which has ever been sanctioned.

The Girl in the Corner Apartment

By MAY CHRISTIE

Author of "One Glorious Year," "The Daring Kid," Etc.

THE CHARACTERS

Cynthia Brent, country girl, living in a New York apartment she has inherited from an old lady she once befriended.

Ruby Allison, her gay and frivolous friend.

Alec Kerr, Ruby's fiancé.

Quentin Gray, an artist friend of Ruby's.

Aunt Ellen, who keeps house for Cynthia.

Murray Stewart, for whom Cynthia is working as a stenographer.

Mrs. Wakefield, friend and rich client of Stewart, who takes a fancy to Cynthia.

Violet Jerrold, friend of Murray's.

—The Course of True Love—

"I will paint your portrait for nothing, Miss Brent," said the count, "because there is that 'je ne sais quoi' (I don't know what) in your face and in your eyes that makes the canvas live, as though a beating heart were in the picture."

"You are very kind," said the girl again, at last for a suitable answer to this generous offer. She already knew that Count Vereno's clientele was a large one, and that he had more commissions from rich society folk than he could execute.

"You are very kind, but I cannot consent to take up your valuable time for nothing."

"Ah! but I wish it, and I shall be well rewarded, for your picture will add to my fame!" he put his hand to his heart with a gesture that in an American would have been absurd, but was quite in keeping with the Italian temperament. "Your picture will be immortalized!"

He broke off. Then, his thoughts flashing into a fresh channel, he glared across the room in the direction of Violet Jerrold, and angrily remarked:

"I hate pretty—pretty women, with faces like a china doll, and eyes like blue marbles, just as hard and cold and without expression! That one over there—" he jerked his hand in Violet's direction—"she cannot keep the affection of a man. Impossible!"

Cynthia was only human, and she was rather glad to hear this frank avowal. Violet Jerrold had made her extremely miserable in the last few days, and had very nearly come between the lovers. Even at this moment, Cynthia recollected, Violet's schemes and intrigues were unknown to Murray Stewart.

"I ought to have told him that she was at the bottom of all the trouble," thought the girl. "But it seems so mean to give another girl away!"

No doubt! Murray—who had his own share of cuteness and acumen—would understand!

At that very moment Murray Stewart approached Cynthia, bowed in an amused fashion to the little Italian count, and said:

"Time's up, and I've come to take Miss Brent to Mrs. Wakefield's 'Chinese room,' to show her the lovely jades and liquor and embroidered robes!"

So Cynthia—well content—moved off with Murray Stewart, longing to be alone for a moment with the man she loved.

This was not to be, however. For the "Chinese room" was occupied by other interested guests, and a cool little voice sounded behind the pair:

"Good evening, Murray. You haven't deigned to cast a glance at me tonight. How are you?"

The speaker was Miss Violet Jerrold, who had followed them from the drawing-room.

He wheeled round, drawing Cynthia with him.

"Good evening, Violet. You've met Miss Brent before, I think. And—" that reminds me—there's been some misunderstanding about her illness, for she's better now, and returning to the office tomorrow morning.

Isn't that so, Miss Brent?

Cynthia nodded her assent, and—as she did so—Violet's eyes were fixed upon her with a sudden gleam of hatred.

Cynthia returned to the office, and the course of true love ran extremely smooth.

Not that she wasn't business-like, and most industrious! She was the very model of all that a first-class private secretary ought to be.

But her dark eyes had taken on an added radiance. Her pale, amethyst skin glowed with a new loveliness, as though a lamp were lit within her. And so she merely laughed her soft little laugh, and a blush stole into her cheeks.

The days flew by at the office like the days of her youth, but now it seemed to have become a part and parcel of herself.

For Murray Stewart's business interest were her own. Her life was to be inextricably bound up in his. Therefore, each smallest detail of the work engrossed her.

There were times, of course, when it needed a strong effort of the will to concentrate. Romantic thoughts would transform the rather dingy outer-office into a little heaven on earth.

It is always so with every girl in love.

HOLDS FIRST DANCE OF SEASON TONIGHT

The C.P.R. card committee, which is becoming noted for the pleasant card games arranged in the Empress Hotel, held a military five hundred game on Wednesday night, under the chairmanship of Mr. J. Belanger, which was voted a great success. Fifteen tables took part in the game, which resulted as follows: First prize, Mrs. Jeffrey, Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Adams and J. M. Bulger, second prize, Mrs. Wilby, Miss Rogers, Messrs. George Medley and J. Belanger, third prize, Mrs. Simpson, Mrs. Ridgway, Messrs. D. C. Robertson and G. Randall.

The ten-bid was made at no less than seven tables, and excitement ran high when the fifth party cut an ace. The last to cut was Mrs. R. E. Burnes, who turned up a Joker, and was accordingly awarded the prize along with her partner, J. McDermont. Quite a number of late comers were disappointed, but intend to be well on time at the next game. The card committee has decided to hold another game next Tuesday instead of a fortnight hence, and arrangements are being made to hold five hundred games every week instead of every fortnight.

The first of the series of the small dances, held under the auspices of the C.P.R. Club, will be held this evening in the ballroom of the Empress Hotel. These dances will be held fortnightly throughout the season. They are strictly invitation dances. The committee has been busy issuing these invitations to friends, and it is expected that the first dance will be a success. Dancing commences at 8:30, and continues until 11:30, while the usual dance music will be provided by Prof. Ozard and his five-piece orchestra.

TORONTO, Oct. 17.—Had Diogenes been seeking an honest woman he would have found one in Kathleen Wright, who, in repossessing her savings which she withdrew from the Dominion Bank during the recent run, added casually to the teller "and here is $200 which you gave me yesterday too much."

EXQUISITE BLOOM IS CLAIM FOR PHOTOPLAY

Trade Magazine Goes Into Ecstasies Over Feature at the Columbia Theatre This Week

"The Sin Flood," the new Goldwyn production being shown at the Columbia Theatre for the balance of this week, has been selected by the critics of Photoplay magazine as one of the best six pictures of the month. This is significant, as the Photoplay magazine saw fit to include three Goldwyn productions among the six best that were chosen for special editorial comment. Here is the critic's opinion of "The Sin Flood":

"It is a photograph you will wish to see, and seeing you will remember. One hesitates to say the obvious thing in connection with it. It is drama, with a beauty and dignity that does not stoop to the melodramatic at any time. Those who believe that massive sets and thousands of 'extras' are necessary to the photoplay of the day, that 'Action' must be watched, word, that a vast expenditure of money or the 'Made in Europe' trademark makes for success in the field, will do well to see this intense, masterful drama, unfolding for the most part in one bare room, with but seven or eight members to the cast."

"Frank Lloyd, with 'Madame X' and many other successes to his credit, directed this filmization of Henning Herker's 'Sinfloeden.' His skilled touch is not unlike that of the late George Loane Tucker. 'James Kirkwood does the greatest work of his entire career, but the other players have parts of almost equal importance, and play them well. 'Here is a photoplay for the entire family, an exquisite bloom in a desert of mediocrity.'"

CAPITOL It is a rare exception THEATRE when a story which has achieved wide popularity is dramatized for the screen and retains in its picturized version the power and vitality that made for its success in book form. When such an event comes to pass, it deserves a full measure of praise. Such an exception is the William Fox screen dramatization of "If Winter Comes," which was shown again at the Capitol Theatre last night. Readers of the book who have not read this great work of fiction will rejoice that they have the opportunity of seeing the well-beloved characters of Hutchinson visualized in a manner that deviates not one whit from the concept of these characters. Motion picture fans who have not read "If Winter Comes" will be delighted with the most absorbing film drama of a decade. Mark Sabre, as Hutchinson created him, is one of the most lovable characters in all fiction, and as Percy Marmont, who plays him on the screen, he retains all the whimsicality, pathos and noble heartedness of the book. And he looks the part of the entire galaxy of screen personalities (and, doubtless, he did) he could not have chosen any actor who more closely approximates the mental concept outlined by Hutchinson. "Puzzlehead" Sabre is not an easy character to interpret. His emotional complex ranges from the extremely suppressed to the violently passionate, and the mere fact that Marmont is convincing in the role, ranks this characterization as a notable achievement.

DOMINION By virtue of his RE- THEATRE markable work on the set- tings of the "Green Goddess," Clark Robinson, the young American designer, challenges the best Joseph Urban, Alan Craig, Norman-Hel Geddes and other of the craft have offered in the past decade which has been one of the most notable in the history of stage architecture. In this widely discussed picture, which is showing at the Dominion Theatre this week, Mr. Robinson was called upon to furnish the necessary atmosphere of a mythical kingdom ruled by a ruthless Indian rajah. Matters were further complicated by the fact that this particular rajah had been educated at Oxford.

BARRIE'S GREAT PLAY PRESENTED LAST NIGHT

"The Admirable Crichton" Occupies Board at Local Playhouse for Balance of Week

The Compton Comedy Company has demonstrated its ability to produce the best work in a manner seldom if ever surpassed in this city, and "The Admirable Crichton," the offering for this week, is well up to it. Not surpassing any of its previous efforts, last night, to an excellent house, this delightful comedy, giving the audience Barrie in his cleverest, witliest vein, was presented by Mr. Compton and his company.

The first act gives a delightful and gentle satire on the radical tendencies of certain modern peers. Lord Loam believes in the equality of the classes, a view which is not shared by his three daughters, the Ladies Mary, Agatha and Catherine Lasenby. His butler, Crichton, is also to be believed in this theory, and when Lord Loam actually carries his views so far as to invite his servants to tea with his family once a month, consternation prevails throughout the entire household.

The unfortunate servants, awkward and ill at ease, are forced to take tea with their master and his daughter, and to listen to a long dissertation from the head of the house. Crichton ventures to disagree with his master's views, and when he is rebuffed, he proves his theory comes in the next act, when he is shown Lord Loam and his daughters, and his nephew, Ernest, Mr. Teherne, Crichton and Twenny, the maid, all wrecked together on a desert island. Under the tragic circumstances, Crichton proves his right to become the leader, and in the third act they are all shown in their island home with Crichton ducculent to Mary. At this juncture a ship arrives, and they are rescued. The last act shows all the adventurers returned to London, and Crichton, though leader on an island no longer so in England. As he himself says, "Circumstances alter cases," and he nobly resigns his claims, becoming once more the obsequious butler.

CROWDED HOUSES AT PANTAGES EVIDENCE POPULAR APPROVAL

It doesn't take long for the "great show at the Pan" to be heard all over the city and the opening performance on Tuesday night had not been out longer than it takes the cars to reach the various terminals before it could be heard in every direction, with the result that the theatre was packed and evening shows last night. That the further advertising which will undoubtedly be furnished by yesterday's crowd will result in a big or better business at the closing performances this afternoon and tonight is a forgone conclusion. As at the opening show, Joe Roberts was the big favorite, although this week's bill is one of the few which can be truthfully described as "all star." Joe was always a favorite here as in every other city on the "Pan" time and since his last appearance some three years ago has established himself as firmly in the Eastern cities as he had already done on the Coast as one of the world's greatest banjoists. His perfect rendering of classical numbers hitherto believed impossible on such an instrument is a revelation to those whose ideas of banjo playing were gathered from the minstrel players of their earlier days. The other big features on this super-excellent bill are "Shadowland,"

Kate and Wiley, in artistic athletic posing; Holland and O'Den, in "Ain't Nature Grand"; "The Poster Girl," vaudeville's daintiest novelty; Ritter and Knappe, European juggling novelty, and a very funny Century comedy on the screen.

STRONG PLEA FOR TECHNICAL SCHOOL

Principal Lister Tells What Is Accomplished by It—Dean Coleman Addresses Trustees

DUNCAN, Oct. 17.—Technical Education and What It Leads To, was the subject of an address delivered at this morning's session of the British Columbia Trustees' Association by Mr. J. G. Lister, principal of the Technical School, Vancouver.

Of the pupils attending the public schools in the Province, only twenty-eight per cent pass into high school, and only four per cent matriculate into college, said Mr. Lister. He asked, "was a system under which only one half of one per cent of the students reached the goal a good one?" Education was the bringing out of the best in boys and girls. Technical training was the education provided through actual doing of the things being taught.

Drawing was the fundamental of technical training. It should be the basis of all education. Mathematics was another fundamental subject. It could be treated as purely mental training or as a highly practical phase of education. "People learned each day of their lives, and any education which permitted more rapid acquisition of knowledge than otherwise was desirable. It could only come through an intensive practical training of boys and girls."

Did it not seem in this present age that the English in the schools should be revised? Was that of past generations sufficient for today?

The need of scientific training in this day of machinery was pointed out by the speaker, who referred to modern farm life. It seemed that one thing lacking today was instruction in the technical side of civics and economics. The best way to deal with this was through technical training.

Centralization Needs Centres rather than individual schools were desirable for technical training. An ill-equipped technical school should be avoided. The pupils should have an opportunity to see good equipment. Mr. Lister said it was difficult to tell what technical education leads to. Boys might get the value of this training for some years. Some of the pupils from his school entered blind-alley jobs owing to the present economic system. Many boys found difficulty in getting work in line with the training secured. The speaker gave instances, however, of lads who, though at first in blind-alley positions, found their proper niches eventually.

"What does technical education lead to?" could not be answered immediately after the boy leaves school, may not show effect for some years.

Some interesting evidence of the value of the course in the Vancouver Technical School was given by Mr. Lister. He claimed that after a boy had taken a technical course he should be given a certificate showing what subjects the pupil had been proficient in. The subjects in which the lad had failed should be forgotten. The speaker did not agree with students being forced to repeat a year simply because he had failed in certain subjects which nature had not fitted him to cope with.

The University's Part The part which the University of British Columbia is playing in training educators and in assisting with educational problems was succinctly outlined to the convention of the British Columbia Trustees' Association by Dean H. F. J. Coleman today.

He pointed out that as the result of a resolution from the Trustees' Association supplemented by similar requests from other bodies, asking for an educational department in the institution, the authorities had taken up the matter with the Department of Education. This had led to the establishment of a course at the university for candidates for academic certificates.

The university could well take upon itself the task of research in child psychology, and measurement in intelligence, and ability, and consideration of taxation problems, said Dean Coleman. The institution should be an analyst of conditions, an expert adviser to which the Province could turn for practical suggestions.

The development of the summer courses at the university was outlined by the speaker, who pointed out that these should prove a wonderful ducculent to Prairie teachers who, attending university, could go back and spread the story of British Columbia's advantages.

VICTORIA MIGHT TAKE LESSONS FROM SOUTH

Col. Charles F. Drake Believes City Could Profitably Investigate Methods of Long Beach

Credit for the phenomenal growth of Long Beach, California, from a town of 2,000 people to a flourishing city of 125,000 is generally given to Col. Charles F. Drake who, with his wife, was a guest at the Empress Hotel yesterday, enjoying a brief rest during his tour of the North Pacific Coast.

"You have a beautiful city here," said the Colonel, who is delighted with the scenery of Victoria and the island, "and considering what I have been told of your climate I cannot but wonder that Victoria is not already one of the premier resorts on the Pacific Coast. You need industries of course—Long Beach has a firm industrial foundation—but with your natural resources and your proximity to the Orient these should easily become a reality."

It was his association with the Messrs. C. B. Crocker and Leland Stanford, who were leaders of the syndicate which built the Southern Pacific Railroad that brought Col. Drake to Los Angeles twenty-three years ago. Mr. Crocker approached him with the proposal that he buy the Crocker holdings in the Long Beach Development Association which would give him control of not only a large section of residential property but also of the two and one-half miles of beach in front of the town. It was the hope of Mr. Crocker to exploit the natural advantages of Long Beach and develop it as a sea-side resort. He died, however, with his hope unfulfilled.

Realizing the possibilities in the scheme Col. Drake purchased the Long Beach section of the Crocker estate from the eldest son of the dead financier. He organized the Sea Side Water Company of California to consummate the purchase and proceeded to build perhaps the largest bath-house on the coast for $110,000. This attracted visitors to the town in ever-increasing numbers, particularly after the completion of the inter-urban railway from Los Angeles. In 1908 the population had grown so astonishingly that Col. Drake felt himself justified in building the Hotel Virginia at a cost of a million and a half dollars.

Two years ago oil was discovered at Signal Hill. This gave a tremendous impetus to the growth of the city the population of which was then 65,000. Large manufacturers have also been attracted to the city, putting the "boom" on a sound economic basis. Today the city numbers 125,000 people. Building is being pushed with such vigor that, up to September permits totalling more than $15,000,000 have been issued this year. Permits for the last two years have averaged more than $1,000,000 per month.

"Three months ago," said the Colonel, "a company capitalized at $30,000,000 began the erection of a plant at Long Beach. There is no doubt that the future of the city is assured. It would seem to me that you Victorians might profitably investigate the methods used to develop our city."

ORGANIZATION FOR ARMISTICE PERIOD

Ex-Service Bodies of the City Make Arrangements for Memorial Service and Poppy Day

A meeting of the Armistice Period committee was held in the rooms of the Army and Navy Veterans last evening. A full attendance of representatives from the following organizations was present: Army and Navy Veterans, British Campaigners, Canadian Legion, G.A.U.V., G.W.V.A., Tuberculous Veterans' Association and the Veterans of France.

Election of chairman and secretary-treasurer for the year 1923-24 took place and the following officers were re-elected unanimously: Mr. J. H. Hogg, chairman, and Mr. Robert Macneil, honorary secretary-treasurer.

In a few appropriate remarks Comrade Hogg and Macneil commented on the growth of the Armistice Period committee, and the harmony which had prevailed in the past between the delegates on the committee. They looked forward to making an excellent showing during the 1923 armistice period, as every association was now represented.

A letter was read from the Canadian Legion relative to providing escorts to invalid ex-service men who were unable to go out by themselves and it was left to the chairman and secretary with power to act in this matter.

A letter from the Canadian Legion suggesting that the Armistice Period committee take up the matter of a local or provincial war memorial to the men who fell in the war was read and the following committee was appointed to look into the matter and report: Messrs. Hogg, Gardner, Hughes, Kay, Hogg, Cameron and Stock.

A cheque for $10 was received from the British Campaigners as their contribution to the twenty-fourth of May float.

Want Ex-Service Plot

The secretary stated that he had written the Victoria-Saanich cemetery committee asking that a plot be set apart in the new cemetery for the burial of ex-service men and that he had no doubt but that the request would be granted.

The poppy committee reported that it had met and made arrangements for a full supply of poppies to be available for sale during the armistice. The name of Comrade Keen, representing the Tuberculous Veterans' Association, was added to this committee, which now consists of Messrs. Hogg, King, Down, Hatcher, Murdoch, McVie and Keen. Comrade Keen will act as chairman of the poppy committee.

The secretary intimated that he had written the Victoria City Council asking for permission to sell poppies on the streets of the city on Saturday, November 10, and he thought that owing to the special nature of the work carried on by the armistice committee, the request would be granted.

Each association represented on the committee will be asked to nominate a member for the position of poppy manager. A meeting will be held on Friday evening in the rooms of the Veterans of France to select a name from the list submitted, and the successful committee will be employed for a period of three weeks on full time at a salary fixed by the committee. The poppy manager will have full charge of the poppy sales, and a store will be secured in the centre of the city.

The Veterans of France offered the use of their meeting hall free of charge at any time, and the offer was accepted with thanks.

Memorial Service

It was decided to hold the memorial service at the Parliament Buildings on Sunday afternoon, November 11, at 3 p.m. The parade will fall in with bands at the city library, corner of Vancouver and Yates Streets, at 2 o'clock, under the direction of Comrade F. Hatcher, who has been appointed marshal of the parade.

The chairman and secretary of the general committee will co-operate with Comrade Hatcher in the necessary arrangements for the parade and memorial service.

Comrade C. E. L. Money reported on the work of the joint committee handling the fund turned over to the ex-service men by the Community Chest and gave a full report of the expenditure.

It was decided that the Armistice Period committee would only participate officially in one entertainment during the armistice period, viz: the community function to be held at the Armory on the evening of Saturday, November 10. In this instance the armistice committee will again co-operate with the Fifth Regiment, and the following committee was appointed to meet the Fifth Regiment committee at an early date and complete details: Messrs. Murdoch, Hogg and Hughes. The committee was instructed to convey to the Fifth Regiment the suggestion that the proceeds of the entertainment, after paying expenses, be handed to the Armistice Period committee, earmarked for expenditure amongst the tuberculous patients receiving treatment in the tubercular hospital, irrespective of whether they are ex-service patients or not. It was also asked to suggest that the ladies who are co-operating with the Tuberculous Veterans' Association be asked to run the refreshments at the Armory on November 10, and that the ladies be permitted to retain the profits from the refreshments, to be expended in their tubercular work.

It was unanimously agreed that the proceeds from the sale of poppies be retained by the Armistice Period committee and expended on behalf of invalid ex-service men in Victoria and vicinity, as occasion may require.

LABOR STATES ITS INSURANCE POLICY

LONDON, Oct. 17.—The policy of Labor in regard to national health insurance is outlined in a pamphlet issued by the council of the Trades Union Congress and the Labor party national executive. The pamphlet expresses the opinion that opportunity should be taken during the forthcoming negotiations between the Minister of Health, the medical profession and approved societies to make certain extensions and improvements in the scope of the medical benefits.

The suggestions offered by Labor include freedom of the insured person to change his doctor at any time and for the lowering of the maximum limit of the number of the insured persons for whom a doctor may accept liability.

BUILDERS OF CANADA SUBJECT OF NEW BOOK

Dr. George H. Locke, Toronto Librarian, Writes of Great Figures in Canadian History

A unique presentation of Canadian history is contained in a book written by a literary man well known in Eastern Canada. Dr. George H. Locke, director of the Toronto public library, Mr. Locke has selected thirty of the statesmen who have made outstanding contributions to Canadian national upbuilding; has chosen a characteristic speech from each, and has prefaced this with a characteristic bit of biography from his own pen. The addresses are arranged chronologically, the whole forming an unusually interesting presentation of Canada's political master builders and throwing light on an out-of-the-ordinary way on national constitutional upbuilding.

NORTHCLIFFE'S BOOK IS NOW AT LIBRARY

"My Journey Round the World" Arrives—Works by Bryce, Papini, and Others Added

Among the new books which have arrived at the Victoria Public Library recently is one by the late Lord Northcliffe, "My Journey Round the World," edited by Cecil and St. John Harmsworth.

"This is the private diary of the great journalist," it was announced in connection with the publication of the volume, "was written in snapshots at odd moments on every day of his journey round the world. His comments vividly, amusingly, inclusively on every person and place he saw."

Other books placed on the shelves of the library in recent days are given below.

"Memories of Travel," by Viscount Bryce, and published after his death, contains eight essays, and, although somewhat incomplete and fragmentary, is of no little importance. Nothing human or otherwise seems to have been alien to Lord Bryce, and he gives force and feeling to this catholic view of life in every word he writes. The gem of the book is the initial chapter, "Impressions of Iceland." These forty pages will surely find a permanent place among the classics of travel literature.

"The Lone Winter," by Anne Bosworth Green, is classed as a "rare and lovely accident in the literary world. It records in a style of good humor, high spirits and unusual grace the intimate adventures of a plucky woman who spent an entire winter alone on an isolated Vermont hill farm with a herd of Shetland ponies, a cow, a dog, a cat, and a real horse or two."

Canon Frederick G. Scott, beloved padre with the Canadian troops overseas, has contributed "The Great War As I Saw It." In this book he describes the attitude of the men, during the war and since. All royalties received from the publication of the volume are to go to the Red Cross Society for the benefit of tubercular soldiers.

"Ethiopia, Past and Present," by E. J. Harrison, is a scholarly book from the pen of a member of the British Commission for the Baltic Provinces, who was afterwards British vice-consul at Kaunas and Vilnius. It delves into history as well as telling of the rise of the new state, its political parties, the Polish-Lithuanian controversy, and the present economic conditions.

The Cambridge University Press, after producing "The Cambridge Modern History," and having got under way "The Cambridge Medieval History," has now launched "The Cambridge History of India." The first volume of the six eventually to be published deals with ancient India from the earliest times to about the middle of the first century, A.D. The work is edited by E. J. Rapson, but as in the case of the other Cambridge histories, the subject is divided into sections each of which is handled by a specialist.

Another new book has appeared on the study of the early history of "The Children of the Sun," by W. J. Perry, of the University of Manchester. "Mr. Perry's book is the first contribution to the intensive study of the facts which demonstrate that Egypt is the home of civilization, and that every country in the world is indebted directly or indirectly to her for its culture. Civilization began when the Egyptians learned the art of irrigation and began to develop agriculture."

"Italian Sculptures Again" Giovanni Papini, the most-talked-of writer in Italy today, gives us in "Four and Twenty Minds" a series of strikingly original literary essays in which he discusses some of the master minds of Italy and of other lands. Aside from the interest in the subject, his incisive style is a most stimulating. The writer devotes his final chapter to himself.

"Political Christianity," by Rev. A. W. Royden, the most outstanding of the few women preachers, contains a number of addresses concerned with the application of Christian principles to our problems as citizens. Among the titles are "St. Patrick's Day," "The Cry of Russia," "Disarmament and the Washington Conference," "Tartary Politics," and "The Care of the Insane." Another by the same author is "Prayer as a Force."

The Irish poet, G. W. Russell, who writes under the pseudonym "A. E.," gives in "The Interpretation" a position on political ideas, setting forth in prose that often approaches poetry, the idea of a world state as variously interpreted by a poet, an anarchist, an artist, a socialist, an historian, and an imperialist. He says:

"The protagonists find themselves together in prison after an attempted revolution which, though not named or placed, obviously suggests the Easter uprising in Dublin. Awaiting sentence on the morrow they talk all through the night, revealing the different political and spiritual moods which inspire them. All of them, except the imperialist, who was arrested by mistake, are idealists, and their philosophy partakes of the mystic and the transcendental. The third volume in Camille Flammarion's trilogy, "After Death," has just been published. It is called "The Manifestations and Apparitions of the Dead, the Soul After Death."

NO CRUELTY MEANT IN BUFFALO HUNT

Contractor for Slaughtering of Animals at Wainwright Denies Indian Story

A. S. Duclos who has the contract for the slaughtering of 1,000 buffalo, when questioned by the reporter of The Bulletin yesterday, stated that this rumor of cruelty being exercised in killing of the animals at Wainwright Park, and that Indians would be used to carry out the operation, was news to him. "Of course I quite understand that some people would think of those things," stated Mr. Duclos, "as they seem to know other people's business so much better than the people themselves." The animals will be downed by a rifle bullet shot by expert gunmen. It is very important that these animals are killed by the first shot, said Mr. Duclos, so as to keep the animal in a cool condition to get the quality of the meat. The process of the slaughtering of the buffaloes is carried out in exactly the same manner as in the large packing plants, with the Government inspection of the meats. The Government was the first to see that no cruelty was allowed, and the Ince Motion Picture Corporation is using the Indians to commend to the public the killing of the buffalo," said Mr. Duclos. When asked regarding an article that appeared in an Edmonton paper regarding the how and arrow scheme, he said: "I will only mention that when they state that the Indians are to shoot the buffalo it is not true. As

Mr. McLennan, who has charge of the filming of the picture assured me on long distance telephone today, they had no idea of the Indians doing the killing. At the most the number of buffalo that will be killed in producing the film will run to about ten head, and as I mentioned before this is being done by expert and experienced gunmen. If these people have been making so much fuss about the humane side of it would not believe false rumors and realize that others beside themselves have just as much, if not more, humane spirit, I feel no cause for alarm."—Edmonton Bulletin.

UNION CHURCH HOLDS HARVEST FESTIVAL

Thanksgiving Services Held at South Saanich Prove Most Successful—Ends on Monday

KEATING, Oct. 16.—The congregation of the South Saanich Union Church held its annual harvest festival on Sunday last, and was a complete success. The Rev. T. D. Griffiths delivered a fine address upon the theme "Dependence Upon Providence."

In addition to several choruses rendered by the choir, they led the congregational singing of the rousing old-time festival hymns, which was greatly appreciated by everyone present.

The church had been artistically decorated with a profusion of the products of the fields, orchards and gardens of the district, and by the members of the women's auxiliary of the church. Conspicuous among the display was a large "Horn of Plenty," emblematic of the bountiful harvest which was being celebrated upon the occasion.

The celebration was continued on the following Monday evening, but owing to the rain of the winter storm breaking upon that day, the audience was rather slim. Nevertheless, those who braved the elements were well repaid for their trouble by the excellent entertainment that was carried out.

A vocalist, that is a favorite with a Keating audience, is Mrs. J. N. Wood, who sang a solo. Mr. Somerville is another favorite, who contributed several songs. Mrs. Stray and Mrs. McClure were the elocutionists, and each one displayed great dramatic ability. Captain Gray delivered a speech, and was accorded much applause.

Mrs. Morrow, the choir leader, presided at the organ upon both occasions with great acceptance. Any description of a church function would be quite incomplete without a mention of the "comestibles" provided by the ladies of the congregation.

The 1923 harvest festival of the Union Church was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem, and all who took part in this celebration are to be congratulated upon its success.

SAANICH

SAANICH, Oct. 14.—On Monday evening the members of the Girls' Institute Club, of Keating, accompanied by a few friends, held a surprise party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Young, in compliment to the newly-wedded couple, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stephens. Games, music and dancing were the pastimes enjoyed. A dainty supper was served, and following this, the president, Miss P. Gale, on behalf of the club, presented Mrs. Stephens with a silver pyrex cassette as a parting gift from her fellow-workers. Mrs. Stephens voiced her thanks in a charming little speech. The following were the guests: The Misses Patricia Gale, Elaine Sherring, Beatrice Butler, Margaret Mitchell, Christina Anderson, Iola Lawrie, Dorothy Caldwell, Lilian Ryan, Mildred Held, Estelle Gold, Ruby and Ona Young, Mrs. Patterson, and the Messrs. George Hafer, Thomas Mitchell, Albert Hafer, Fred Mitchell, Frank Dickson and Ralph Mitchell.

PORT ALBERNI PIONEER DIES

PORT ALBERNI, Oct. 16.—An old-time resident of Port Alberni passed away last night when Mrs. Mary L. Wood, wife of Mr. Robert H. Wood, succumbed at her residence unexpectedly. Mrs. Wood has been ailing for some months but it was not anticipated that her illness was serious. Mrs. Wood had been a very highly respected resident of this town from the early days, and had always taken a great interest in the hospital, Presbyterian Church and other good works, and her loss will be greatly felt by all those who knew her.

SALT SPRING TENNIS DANCE

GANGES, Oct. 16.—The Salt Spring tennis dance will take place on Tuesday, October 23, at the Mahon Hall, Ganges, when Hunt's orchestra will be in attendance. Miss M. Scott, having left for Los Angeles, it was arranged at a meeting of the tennis club committee on Wednesday night, that her place would be taken as secretary by Mr. R. O. King.

SALMON FISHING AT COWICHAN BAY

COWICHAN BAY, Oct. 16.—Fishing in Cowichan Bay is very good just now. Mr. Lloyd, of Shawinigan, caught eight fine fish on Sunday. Mr. Barber, of Duncan, five large ones, and Mr. Peterson had five, while two other gentlemen caught six each. The fish are in capital condition.

All sportsmen noted the leading article in The Colonist on "The Death of the Sockeye Salmon," and all agree the traps and the purse sein are the cause of this. Residents here note the very large decreases of Spring Salmon and Coho; these are following the way of the Sockeye.

Three years ago there were one hundred and fifty Spring salmon in these waters to one this year, and the Coho is on the same ratio. In spite of this the present Provincial officials advocate purse seine fishing in Departure Bay, and ask for same to be granted by the Dominion Minister. To many it appears as if the Government must starve to satisfy the greed of such. Ten thousand men used to be living fishing with the rowboat and gill net on the Fraser. How many are there today?

ISLANDS BOARD OF TRADE IN SESSION

GANGES, Oct. 16.—The fourth annual meeting of the Gulf Islands Board of Trade was held in the Mahon Hall, Ganges, on Friday. There was an excellent attendance of members, reflecting the increased interest taken in the organization during the past year, the membership having risen to 124 in this period.

The retiring president, Captain Maude, of Mayne Island, gave a brief summary of the matters which included questions of transportation, wharves, telephones, aids to navigation and numerous other items of more or less importance. Some progress had been made, and it was hoped that a great deal more would be accomplished shortly.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, A. J. Smith, Ganges, Salt Spring Island; vice-president, H. G. Scott, Port Washington, Pender Island; secretary-treasurer, W. M. Muat, Ganges, Salt Spring Island; council members, W. E. Scott, T. F. Spence, W. Sutherland, H. T. Price, A. J. Eaton, J. J. Shaw, J. C. Lang, E. F. Gibson, H. Ruckle, L. T. Chaplin, S. Percival, and additional members for some of the islands are to be named later.

COBBLE HILL NOTES

COBBLE HILL, Oct. 17.—On Monday evening the trustees of the hall met to discuss the finalizing of the upstairs room of the hall by the latter body on the understanding that they should have the use of it for a lodge room. Satisfactory arrangements were made, and it is expected that work will be commenced at once.

The annual meeting of the Cobble Hill Amateur Dramatic Club was held last night at the residence of Mr. B. O. Bolton. The election of officers took place and plans were made for the coming season's activities.

DEEP COVE CARD PARTY

DEEP COVE, Oct. 17.—The usual fortnightly card party was held on Monday evening under the auspices of the Deep Cove Social Club, in the club hall. Notwithstanding the stormy night, there were seven tables of progressive five hundred. The prize winners were: Ladies' first, Mrs. L. Horst; gentlemen's first, Mr. J. Peck; ladies' consolation, Mrs. Rose; gentlemen's consolation, Mr. R. Simpson. The supper was in charge of Mrs. Calvert, assisted by Mrs. B. Mearns, Mrs. C. Moxes and Miss M. Horst.

FIRE AT NANAIMO

NANAIMO, Oct. 17.—A fire involving a loss of between four and five thousand dollars yesterday morning destroyed the lamp house connected with the Jingle Pot mine of the East Wellington Collieries. The flames made rapid headway, and only hard work on the part of the employees confined the flames to the lamp house and prevented the blaze spreading to the adjacent buildings. The loss includes four hundred or more safety lamps which were for use in the mines.

NO HOPE HELD OUT FOR INCREASED AID

Hon. Dr. MacLean, Replying to Resolutions Passed at Teachers' Convention, Says Grant Generous

DUNCAN, Oct. 17.—"At present the Provincial Government's contribution to education in the different districts of the Province are in much more generous than in other provinces that I am convinced that the Legislature would not entertain the suggestion to increase them," Hon. Dr. J. D. MacLean, Minister of Education, has replied to the request of the British Columbia Teachers' Association that the Government grant toward teachers' salaries be increased.

The statement was contained in a letter read at the convention of the association today from the minister, answering the plea which was referred to him by last year's convention.

Another important statement made by Dr. MacLean was that his department was not in favor of lengthening of the Normal School course at the present time.

The resolutions submitted to the minister, and his replies are as follows: Resolution—Whereas there is too great a step from the senior year of the public school to the first year of high school, therefore be it resolved that the public school be extended by a period of one year.

Minister's reply—The elementary school course is now divided into eight grades and pupils should be able to cover the course thoroughly in eight years. Many will graduate in seven or even six years. Those who obtain a thorough grounding in essential subjects will not, in my opinion, have great difficulty in carrying on their high school studies successfully.

Resolution—That the Department of Education be requested to supply at cost, all textbooks other than those supplied by the department, used in the public and high school work, to all school boards to be sold without profit to the students within their respective districts.

Minister's reply—Much can be said in favor of this resolution, which will receive my careful consideration. The department now carries a small supply of books which sells without profit, to pupils in school districts where there are no local bookstores.

Extension of Normal Course Resolution—That we ask the Department of Education to extend the Normal school course so that our teachers shall be more adequately trained.

Minister's reply—The department is not in favor of extending the Normal School course at the present time. The requirements for Normal entrance in arithmetic, British history and geography have been considerably increased and should be a corresponding improvement in the character of the teaching service which will be rendered by young teachers in the elementary schools.

Should the Normal School course be extended to two years, few, if any, students from rural districts could afford to attend Normal. Generally speaking Normal School students from rural districts bear the heaviest burden of the cost of the Normal school. There is no province in Canada where the Normal School course is more extensive than in this Province, and the department has just recently improved the course for the professional training of University graduates.

University graduates will hereafter be required to spend two terms in training, one term devoted chiefly to elementary school methods and observation and practice-teaching in elementary schools; the other term to high school subjects and observation and practice-teaching in high school classes.

Resolution—That whereas the Superannuation Act passed at the session of 1921 has not yet been taken advantage of by any school board in the Province and that from information received from both representatives of school boards and teachers that it is unworkable in its present wording, resolved that part four of the Act as applying to school board employees be amended to be made obligatory and deal with, as part two, which applies to Provincial Government employees.

Minister's reply—I am in sympathy with the resolution, but in view of the action of the Legislature in amending the original draft of section 50 (3) of the Schools Act, empowering a board to give a retiring allowance to teachers, I do not feel that the Legislature would entertain the proposed change in the Superannuation Act.

Resolution—That textbooks and other supplies furnished by the Department of Education be received by the respective Boards at least one week before school opening, thereby greatly benefiting organization in the schools.

Minister's reply—Requirements for free textbooks and other supplies which were forwarded from the schools of Greater Vancouver were filed this year and the books forwarded at least ten days before the opening of the schools in September. Delays are sometimes due to the fact that requisitions are not received in time from all principals of the school district. The Department will be pleased to give effect to this resolution.

Resolution—Whereas the present Public Schools Act lays upon School Boards, as their first duty, the providing of sufficient school accommodation for all children in their districts between six and sixteen years of age inclusive, but makes no satisfactory provision whereby funds may be secured to provide same; therefore be it resolved, that this Convention request the Government through the Honorable the Minister of Education to change the Schools Act so as to make it compulsory for the Municipal Councils to make, if requested by the School Board, an annual levy up to one mill for necessary additional school accommodation, and I am not convinced that the opinion of the House has changed in the last year.

Resolution—That Section 42 of the Public Schools Act be amended by striking out the words "Such chairman shall have a casting vote in case of an equality of votes between the other members of the said Board, upon any question before the Board, but shall not have a casting vote as a member of said Board," and substituting in lieu thereof, the words "Such chairman shall enjoy the same privileges as the other members of the Board. In case of an equality of votes upon any question before the Board, such question shall thereby be deemed to be lost."

Minister's reply—The change recommended in this resolution was made in the School Act at the last session of the Legislature.

Silverton's Situation Resolution—Whereas the assessed rate for school purposes for the Silverton School district made in the year 1921 was 25 mills, and whereas, in view of the fact that the increased teachers' salaries and other current expenses have for several years steadily increased, so that the ordinary levies have annually failed to meet expenditures, consequently gradually exhausting the school reserve fund; and whereas the school rate for 1922 roll will necessarily be raised to about 30 or more mills; and whereas the value of taxable property in this school district has gradually decreased owing to the closing of hotels, and the consequent decrease in the value of such property, the balance of the taxable property being composed in the great part of small homes, thus causing the burden of the rate to fall upon a very limited number of larger property holders; and whereas owing to the fact that the Silverton School district is surrounded by non-taxable mining property and Crown lands, and consequently the boundaries of said district are incapable of being extended to increase the taxable area; and whereas the great financial Provincial Government in aid of teachers' salaries has remained stationary despite the raising of salaries during the past few years; therefore be it resolved that the Provincial Government be requested to make an examination into the peculiar circumstances affecting the taxation of mining commonwealths, and the Silverton School district in particular as a mining area.

Minister's reply—This Department is now engaged in a careful examination of the matter of taxation of mining areas such as Silverton School district.

GERMAN MAGNATE COMES TO NEW YORK

HAMBURG, Oct. 17.—Hugo Stinnes, Jr., sailed today on the steamer Resolute for New York. It was announced that his visit to the United States was for "information purposes."

Dr. Otto Ludwig Wiedfeldt, the German ambassador at Washington, also sailed on the Resolute to resume his diplomatic post.

INCREASED CONTRIBUTIONS

Resolution—Resolved that Section 19 of the Public Schools Act be amended by inserting after the words "Domestic Science Instructors" the words "Medical Health Inspector."

Resolved that the Provincial Government go on record as favoring an increase in Government grant towards teachers' salaries.

Minister's reply—At present the Provincial Government's contributions to education in the different school districts of the Province are so much more generous than in other provinces, I am convinced that the Legislature would not entertain the suggestion to increase them. I would refer you to the latest issue of the Canada Year Book, 1921, pages 128 and 129, where a comparative statement is given of the expenditures made on education by the different provinces. The statement is as follows:

In the first column is given the total expenditure in schools under public control; in the second column the percentage of the total expenditure on education; and in the third the percentage contributed by Government.

SIDNEY WOMEN'S AUXILIARIES UNITE

Ladies of St. Andrew's and Holy Trinity Churches Decide to Combine Organizations

SIDNEY, Oct. 17.—The Women's Auxiliary of St. Andrew's Church met at the home of Mrs. W. J. Coward this afternoon, the president, Mrs. J. Critchley, being in the chair. There was a large attendance of members and Mrs. Gwynne, Mrs. Nelson and Mrs. Salmon visited from the Holy Trinity branch.

It was decided to amalgamate the two branches into one, to be called the St. Andrew's and Holy Trinity Women's Auxiliary, having one set of officers and having the meetings alternately in the two districts.

It was decided to have a day of prayer on St. Andrew's Day, November 30, in St. Andrew's Church, and a special speaker will be invited for the service.

A committee of three was appointed to arrange where the annual meeting, which takes place on November 22, will be held. Mrs. C. Ward, Mrs. F. Philip and Mrs. J. Matthews are the committee. At the close of the business the hostesses served a delicious tea and a pleasant social hour was spent.

Resolution—Resolved that Section 19 of the Public Schools Act be amended by inserting after the words "Domestic Science Instructors" the words "Medical Health Inspector."

Resolved that the Provincial Government go on record as favoring an increase in Government grant towards teachers' salaries.

Minister's reply—At present the Provincial Government's contributions to education in the different school districts of the Province are so much more generous than in other provinces, I am convinced that the Legislature would not entertain the suggestion to increase them. I would refer you to the latest issue of the Canada Year Book, 1921, pages 128 and 129, where a comparative statement is given of the expenditures made on education by the different provinces. The statement is as follows:

In the first column is given the total expenditure in schools under public control; in the second column the percentage of the total expenditure on education; and in the third the percentage contributed by Government.

DISCUSSIONS ON SCHOOL PROBLEMS

TRUSTEES AT CONVENTION CONSIDER URGENT MATTERS

Inspector Gordon During Evening Address Explains What Ontario Sister Organization is Doing

DUNCAN, Oct. 17.—Both Victoria School Board delegates took part in the debate yesterday in the B.C. Trustees' Association convention when the resolution from North Vancouver district asking that the Lord's Prayer be made compulsory as an opening exercise in the schools, was under discussion.

Trustee Christian Silvert, made a plea for "liberty of conscience" and took a stand against the North Vancouver resolution, while Trustee J. L. Beckwith, supported the move to make the prayer compulsory.

Trustee A. C. Perry, of North Vancouver, chairman of the Resolutions Committee, reported that that body believed that the present optional method was working out well, and was against making the Lord's Prayer compulsory. Trustee John Shaw, Nanaimo, a member of the Resolutions Committee, declared it was dangerous to introduce religious matters into the schools.

Without further discussion, the convention approved the Resolutions Committee's recommendation, with some dissenting voices.

The objection was then raised that time for discussion had not been granted, whereupon the question was brought up again for reconsideration.

Trustee Mrs. Charlotte E. Ray, North Vancouver district, made a plea for the resolution under discussion. There had never been any religious training in the schools in B.C., she pointed out. "Are we going to neglect an appeal to the higher powers at the beginning of the school day?" she asked.

Inspector A. C. Stewart, of Victoria, said that in twenty years of observation in schools he had never seen a class begin the day without the Lord's Prayer, although the matter was purely optional. Trustee John Shaw, Nanaimo, said he taught for twenty-six years and had never omitted the prayer.

Trustee J. L. Beckwith, Victoria, declared that if the Lord's Prayer was so widely used, it should be made compulsory.

Trustee A. L. McWilliam, Vancouver, a member of the Resolutions Committee, pointed out that the committee was not unanimous in objecting to the passage of the resolution. Speaking on behalf of the minority, he asserted that at this was claimed to be a Christian country, there should be no objection to the Lord's Prayer, with which legislatures were in the habit of opening their deliberations.

Religious Belongs to Church

Agreement with Resolutions Committee's finding was voiced by Trustee C. Silvert, Victoria. He declared the religious training question was dangerous. "I stand for liberty of conscience," he said. "Religious teaching and practices belong to the churches. In spite of our legislatures opening their sittings with prayer, the commonest kind of materialistic views prevail there."

Further support of the Resolutions Committee's stand came from Trustee Angus McFinnis, Vancouver, who declared that in those parts of the country where religious instruction prevailed in the schools the crime record was no lower and the standard of morality was no higher. He was not sure that the Lord put any special value on the Lord's Prayer. He could find nothing in the New Testament to support any such view.

Inspector Stewart remarked that anything which was mandatory was not as likely to be as successful as if it was optional.

If the teacher was forced to repeat the Lord's Prayer, would it be of any avail? asked Inspector Patterson.

Trustee Mrs. T. W. Martindale, of Nanaimo, stated that while she was not a church member, she believed in a higher power. Any teacher who refused to say the Lord's Prayer must be an atheist, and was not fit to instruct children in "this enlightened age."

The place for prayer and the reading of the Bible was in the home, claimed Trustee A. G. Perry. The danger of cleavage in the schools should be avoided.

When the vote on a motion to adopt the Resolutions Committee's recommendation was taken, the affirmative won by 24-11.

The next resolution to come before the convention was that from the Burnaby School Board, asking for the deletion of that section of the manual of school law, prohibiting ministers from acting as trustees, teachers, school inspectors or superintendents of education, and requesting that Bible reading be placed in the curriculum.

The resolutions committee advocated that readings be given from the Bible from the standpoint of literature only. After making this report to the convention, the committee found that it had considered only the latter half of the resolution, which it promptly took back for consideration.

Booker's Proposal

The following resolution from the Sooke School Board created considerable discussion: "Whereas, the existence and prosperity of our cities is dependent in the present condition of the Province, on the welfare of our rural districts, the number of teachers employed in city and rural municipalities schools, all of which are graded, is more than double those employed in rural and ungraded districts, very few of which are graded;

"Resolved, that cities and municipalities be encouraged, if not compelled, to give newly qualified teachers the initial experience in teaching for at least two years, so that rural districts may be enabled to more readily obtain experienced teachers for their more difficult administration."

The resolutions committee reported that the resolution was impractical, and recommended that it be not entertained. The chairman of that body suggested that the best thing to do would be to increase the salaries in the rural districts.

Trustee Silvert, Victoria, was against the Sooke resolution. He admitted that some reform was desirable, but thought it might be better to compel higher salaries in the rural districts. The present situation in regard to new teachers in ungraded schools was little short of a tragedy, the trustee declared.

Trustee James P. Dickson, of Burnaby, suggested that increased supervision of ungraded schools might solve the problem.

A defence of the resolution was offered by Trustee Dr. Richard Felton, Sooke, who said in part: "In ungraded schools, where the children are young, they are left to cope, single-handed, far too frequently without even the support of their board of trustees, with problems varying from the arrangement of school classes to the proper stuff to put into the feeding bottle of Mary's baby sister, both of which may very rightly be held to come within their province. If the whole of their mental energy is taken up with the endeavor to impress the district inspector with the progress of the pupils in the subjects contained in the curriculum—an outlet of energy so far new to them—how can they be expected to meet the innumerable other little side issues incidental to rural school management?"

They have, as a rule, no principals, frequently no janitor, frequently, also, no trustees to shift the burden to. I have known many of them to become thoroughly disheartened themselves, not to mention the poor progress of their pupils. "It has been suggested to me that action to remedy this matter, would be altruistic on the part of the city schools, but I do not see it in that light. They stand to lose little or nothing in giving one or two new teachers places in their graded schools, where they would work under supervision and would learn the ways of graded school administration, and they would benefit in the end by being able to pick from better trained teachers."

Efforts to amend or replace the Sooke resolution were ruled out of order, and finally the resolutions committee's recommendation was adopted.

Musical Instruction

There was some discussion over another resolution from the North Vancouver District School Board, asking that in cases where pupils were taking music privately they should be allowed credit for the training in the high school. The resolutions committee reported the matter without recommendation.

Trustee J. E. Wilton, Point Grey, moved the resolution be adopted, and Trustee C. Silvert, of Victoria, seconded it.

Speaking in support of the resolution, Trustee Mrs. C. E. Rae, North Vancouver district, pointed out that no school board would have to provide a music teacher, the plan being simply to have music an optional subject, taught privately, pupils taking it being given credit. She claimed that with music in addition to a full high school course, children did not have sufficient opportunity for physical exercise.

The resolution, which appeared to be favored by the convention, was sent back to the North Vancouver district delegation for redrafting, as it was deemed not sufficiently clear in its import.

The annual report of Mr. J. E. Wilton, secretary-treasurer of the association, presented yesterday, pointed out that the association's membership was today the largest in the history of the organization. His financial statement showed a balance of $150 in the bank.

The report on branches, also presented by the secretary, showed that the progress of some of the branches was not very encouraging. Several attempts to form new branches were unsuccessful.

A resolution regretting the illness of Mayor O. T. Smythe was passed by the convention. The association's membership was today the largest in the history of the organization. His financial statement showed a balance of $150 in the bank.

Mr. T. C. King, president of the Alberta Trustees' Association, brought greetings from the prairie organization. He expressed a hope that before long there would be a standard curriculum throughout Canada. He wished that changes in the textbooks would not be made so frequently as at present. Talking on religious education, he said, "That is ticklish ground, but I feel that we must introduce something of the sort somewhere along the line."

Pointing out that in Alberta from 500 to 800 schools had been forced to close owing to financial difficulties, he said that the people should educate their children even at a sacrifice, and that if other methods failed, the Government should see that the schooling was provided.

Inspector Stewart, Victoria, gave a short address as representative of the Department of Education, in the absence of the Minister. He declared President Harwood to be the best trustee in B.C., if not in Canada.

Evening Addresses

At last night's session of the convention, Mr. J. S. Gordon, Municipal Inspector of Schools, Vancouver, gave a report on the convention of the Trustees and Ratepayers' Department of the Ontario Educational Association held in Toronto in April, he having represented the B.C. Trustees' Association there.

Several hundred men and women from all parts of the Province attended, said Mr. Gordon. "The first marked difference noticeable between the personnel of the meeting and a meeting of a trustees' association in British Columbia," he explained, "was that there any ratepayer, whether a trustee or not, might be and many were, members of the association. This, it seems to me, is a good idea. It permits all citizens interested in the welfare of their schools to attend. This should familiarize them with school problems and set them thinking about their solution. The conventions in Ontario thus become training centres for prospective trustees, and in this they do good work. I commend the Ontario system to you."

"It also impressed me as desirable in having the administrators of the schools, the school trustees, meeting in convention at the same time as the teachers. This affords good opportunities for trustees, teachers and other school workers to meet together to discuss questions of mutual concern or hear addresses by experts on subjects of vital interest to all."

Referring to the discussion which took place at the meetings of trustees and ratepayers, Mr. Gordon said that he found the discussion on hot lunches for children in rural schools were interesting. There was a unanimity as to the desirability of such lunches where a considerable number of pupils remain at school during the noon hour, but some speakers held that difficulties in practice made the plan impossible. Mr. Gordon said he drew from the discussion the following findings:

1. Warm lunches for school children are desirable.

2. It is quite possible to provide them.

3. The success of the scheme depends primarily on the energy, enthusiasm, intelligence and courage of the teachers backed by a school board, or even a single trustee, with business ability.

4. The benefit of the hot lunch is not only physical or hygienic. It is worth while viewed from a social or moral standpoint. The noon hour in a country district spent by teacher and pupils in partaking of a common meal, prepared by themselves, and followed by recreations supervised by a judicious, tactful teacher, becomes a means of social and moral uplift instead of a menace.

Ontario's Paid Officials

The Trustees and Ratepayers' Department of the Ontario Educational Association, pointed out Mr. Gordon, had two paid officials, the field secretary and secretary-treasurer. Its annual revenue is $18,900, $10,000 of this amount being paid by the Provincial government. The Journal, official publication of the association, has 1,129 subscribers, and advertising in it brings in over $4,000 a year. The speaker stated that he had extended the fraternal greetings of the British Columbia association and had been asked, in return, to return the greetings and to solicit co-operation in an endeavor to form a Dominion-wide trustees' federation. In closing, Mr. Gordon urged the British Columbia Trustees' Association to "join with your fellow trustees between here and the Atlantic in the production of a school board journal that will do Canada credit." This could best be done by the formation of a Dominion-wide trustees' federation, he declared.

Mr. Harry Charlesworth, secretary of the British Columbia Teachers' Federation, gave an excellent description of the great world conference of educationists at San Francisco, pointing out that its primary aim was to bring about a better understanding between the peoples of various nations. The effects of the movement would be found in future generations, he declared.

Party Travellers Wild Country in Search of Data Bearing Upon the Magnetic Pole

THE PAS, Man., Oct. 17.—Leading a party of men who in the last two summers have covered 4,000 miles, mostly by canoe, of the farthest north wilderness of Canada, R. G. Madill, assistant magnetician of the Dominion Observatory, Ottawa, has returned to civilization.

In the course of their journey, which was made for the purpose of surveying the operation of magnetic forces—the magnetic pole is located almost due north of here—the party was at times on the verge of starvation, subsisting on such succulent provender as old moccasins, discarded socks, and dried suckers. part of their travels they crossed country that had never been trodden by a white man since Samuel Hearne passed on his historic journey from Fort Prince of Wales to the mouth of the Coppermine River in 1771. This summer, Mr. Madill was accompanied by C. G. Nagy, of Winnipeg, and

Philip Ross, of The Pas. The survey is part of a world-wide research into the laws governing the magnetic forces of the earth, which are studied through the magnetic elements—the variation of the compass, the dip and horizontal intensity of the earth's magnetism.

Owing to the constant movement of the North Magnetic Pole, it is necessary to maintain a careful check on the magnetic elements, not only for purely scientific purposes, but to inform mariners and others of the variation of the compass.

Will Your Boy Be Educated?

Of course he will, because you want to see him grow up to be a "real" man. When he gets out into the world and makes his mark, what pleasure and satisfaction it will bring to you!

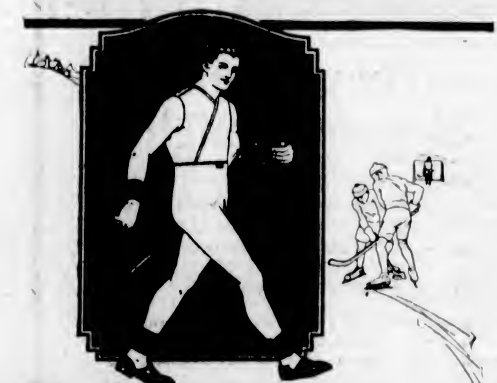

But there is just one consideration—suppose you do not live until he is fitted for his life's work. This thought has escaped many a man. It is the chief reason ninety per cent. of children never complete their High School course.

The matter can easily be arranged—an education guaranteed to your children—through life insurance.

SCOUT MOVEMENT SHOWS PROGRESS

BUT WORK HANDICAPPED BY LACK OF OFFICERS

Annual Meeting of Local Organisation Held at Empress Hotel Last Night

The Scout movement is gaining momentum in Victoria. The spirit of the annual meeting of the local organization, held last evening at the Empress Hotel, must have been very gratifying to those who have been following the progress of the work during the past few years. It became more and more apparent as the various reports were read that almost the whole thing which prevents the movement from absorbing almost the entire boyhood of the Province is the lack of trained leaders. This lack, unfortunately, is felt as a very serious handicap, and presents a difficulty for which there is no immediate completely satisfactory solution.

Mr. H. T. Ravenhill, chairman of the Victoria executive, presided, and with him on the platform were Mr. G. H. Scarrett, commissioner of the Victoria district, and Mr. A. R. Sherwood, acting secretary.

In his annual address Mr. Ravenhill reviewed the past year's Scouting in Victoria. The outstanding event was, of course, the visit last April of the Chief Scout, General Sir Robert Baden-Powell, and for their efficient handling of the arrangements Mr. Scarrett and Mr. Sherwood were commended. The speaker also referred with satisfaction to the fact that two local Scoutmasters, McCarter and Frampton, had taken charge of the Gillingham training camp on Galiano Island. Scoutmaster Frampton subsequently being called to Alberta to take charge of a similar camp there.

Future of Movement
Touching on the future of Scouting Mr. Ravenhill pointed out that during the past year the local organization had been dependent on the Community Chest for funds, but now that this chest no longer existed the organization would have to appeal to the public for its finances. They would have to ask within the next twelve months for about $1,200. The speaker commented on the fact of this would be wanted for salaries.

Scoutmasters at their last meeting had passed a resolution asking the executive to provide material for a bridge-building outfit to be used by all the troops when wanted. It had also been suggested that the association should try to get a permanent camping ground about ten or fifteen miles from the city. Further camping supplies to be used by the various troops, were also needed.

Reference was made to the finances of the association, these showing that there was a surplus in the bank at the present moment of something over $346. It was the intention to hold a membership drive during the coming months.

Need Scoutmasters

"And in conclusion I would like to emphasize the great need for Scoutmasters. Without them development is barred," emphasized Mr. Ravenhill. The Victoria district commissioner, Mr. G. H. Scarrett, began an annual report by referring to the same need. The past year had been only fairly successful because of the failure to get an adequate supply of officers, which meant that progress had been checked through inability to handle any great number of boys. Apart from this fact, however, the movement had been very successful. There were no outstanding liabilities. Right economy and voluntary effort had been needed to secure this condition. Scout work was improving in quality. Five Victoria officers were Gillingham graduates. Gillingham officers meant real live Scout troops where nothing but actual scouting went on. The boys themselves were becoming ambitious to improve their own standing. In Victoria there were 25 officers; 10 troops with a total of about 200 boys; 11 packs with about 250 boys; total, about 450 boys. With more officers, the number could easily be doubled in the next year.

St. Mary's Troop and Pack during the year had secured both cups in the water sports, recalled Mr. Scarrett. In reviewing the work of the boys, St. Aidan's Troop and Collegiate Pack had taken the honors in the land sports. Victoria West Pack had taken the MacArthur pennant for interpack competition in signalling. The Rain Patrol, Langford, had won the Okeel camping trophy; the Jeune Cup for Cub camping was won by Victoria West Pack.

Another feature of the past year's Scouting had been the visit in April of Sir Robert Baden-Powell, Chief Scout, when a total of 168 boys had paraded. The Victoria force had been supplemented by boys from up-island points.

Scouting a Game

"Scouting is a game played by boys and older players," said Mr. Scarrett in a splendid address which he gave following the formal reports of the evening. The latter fact was absolutely forgotten, but it was absolutely necessary for real results. The merits of every boy movement must always be judged from three viewpoints: First, that of the boy; second, that of the parent; third, that of the nation.

How did Scouting measure up from the point of view of the boy? First, it trained him in self-reliance, in resourcefulness. In leadership; second, it encouraged the boy to study for the various proficiency badges; it encouraged the study of hobbies, and through these were frequently discovered the boy's forte in life; third, it gave the boy the privilege of being able to render service when occasion arose.

From the parents' point of view Scouting (1) solved the great question of recreational education. It answered the need for something for the boy to do when he was not in the school. Without some set occupation the boy was almost bound to be in mischief. Scouting tried to provide that something.

(2) Under the influence of the Scout Law the boy's mind was much more susceptible to the influence of spiritual things.

(3) Parents wished to see their boys happy and contented; Scouting supplied that need.

From the national standpoint Scouting (1) did away with an enormous amount of inefficiency. Boys were taken at the age when they were most capable of learning, and became more and more apparent as the various reports were read that almost the whole thing which prevents the movement from absorbing almost the entire boyhood of the Province is the lack of trained leaders. This lack, unfortunately, is felt as a very serious handicap, and presents a difficulty for which there is no immediate completely satisfactory solution.

Notable Happenings
Surprise results at the success of visiting teams featured the English First Division League games Saturday afternoon.

One of the best performances of the day was Chelsea's draw with Cardiff City in South Wales. Following a home defeat from the league leaders a week ago, the merit of the "Pens" achievement is all the more noteworthy.

Cardiff City, however, deserve all credit in holding on to their unbeaten certificate. The Welsh club is now in a position of "splendid isolation." There are eighty clubs in the league, and on Saturday morning the City and Tranmere Rovers, in northern section of the Third Division, were the only unbeaten sides, but the Rovers were defeated at home by New Brighton, and thus the Cardiff men were left alone in the class known as "the No-Surrender Brigade."

Notts County's Victory
From a no-scoring draw at home to a 2-1 win at White Hart Lane is a notable advance by Notts County in their intercourse with Tottenham Hotspur. The Spurs were certainly surprised by the result, which followed their standouts as the best bit of work by the County this season.

Still another visiting side to do well was Burnley, who followed Aston Villa after a reverse at home from the same team a week earlier.

West Bromwich Albion likewise deserve credit for shaking the points at Huddersfield, seeing that the Albion was beaten by the Yorkshire team 4-2 at the Hawthorns.

Manchester City's win at Highbury over The Arsenal deserves more than passing notice, and the same may be said of West Ham United's draw at Newcastle.

Everton's Triumph
Last season Liverpool beat Everton in both league games. This time, however, the honors have gone to the Goodison Road side, who followed up their previous week's win by another 2-1 success at Anfield. Championship aspirations on the part of Liverpool are dwindling away each week.

The Forest Came Back
Notts Forest came back swiftly in their second meeting with Middlesbrough. The first game was a 1-1 draw, but the Foresters won the return by 3-1.

Blackburn Rovers are quietly but surely forcing their way into the St. Andrew's ground in the first game with Birmingham, but at Ewood Park the Lancastrians won 4-1. The Rovers' game was one of a high order, as they are the only team to reach the 20 mark to date.

Texaco United, who have a win at Sheffield United inflicted a real knockout blow at Bramall Lane by winning 4-0.

James Lawrence, the old Newcastle goal keeper, who recently took over the management of the Preston team, is having his troubles these days.

South Shields' Good Work
The Shields continued to hold the boards as the most outstanding team in the Second Division. Saturday the side again beat Hury by 1-0, and now occupy a good lead at the top of the table.

The Shields team, two years ago, also made a splendid start in this section, but the pace was evidently too much for the men and lately they fell away in a marked degree.

Bradford City did not follow up their earlier success at Leicester, and had to be content with a division of the points at Valley Parade on Saturday afternoon.

Derby County once more treated their home supporters to a goal-scoring exhibition when they beat Hull City 4-1 in the return game. The Beakites hold the record for goals in the Second Division this season.

The Potteries Duel
Stoke triumphed in a remarkable way at Hanley, when the team won by 4-2 over Port Vale in the second game of the series between rival Pottery teams. The result is all the more surprising, because Stoke won by only a goal at home in the first tussle.

"After many days" Manchester United has returned to the paths of victory. Beaten by 3-2 at Boundary Park, the United came out winners by 2-0 against Oldham Athletic at Old Trafford on Saturday afternoon.

Bristol City and Fulham appear to be anchored near the foot of the table. Both were at home on Saturday, and each shared in a draw with Southampton and Coventry City respectively.

Tranmere's First Defeat
Tranmere Rovers have at last met their Waterloo, and in front of their home supporters! In their Northern Section, Third Division, game with New Brighton was 2-1 for the visitors, although the Rovers managed a draw at the famous watering place a week earlier.

The Wolverhampton Wanderers had the biggest win of the day in this section—by four clear goals over Halifax Town. Thus the "Wolves" have landed on top of the table, and it would not occasion much surprise if they were to remain there for many weeks to come.

Rotherham County, however, who dropped out of the Second Division along with the Wanderers last year, is far down the list.

Southern Topics
Form of an uncertain nature continues to feature the doings of Portsmouth in the Southern Section. Beaten by Brighton at home 3-1, the

"Pompey" team won by 3-0 in the return game at the health resort. Swansea, however, retain the leadership and did well in drawing with Queen's Park Rangers in the metropolis.

The fight for promotion to the Second Division is a very keen affair among the Southern clubs, with at least half a dozen teams as likely candidates.

Glasgow Rangers had a rare good tussle with Ayr United in their Scottish League game on Saturday afternoon. A single goal was the only difference between the teams, and the United deserve all credit for their gallant stand against the men of Ibrox.

Partick Thistle has removed the Aldrieonians from second place on the table. The Thistle won Saturday by two clear goals against Queen's Park at Hampden, while the Aldrie fellows only managed to draw with Greenock Morton at home.

Hibernians did splendidly in beating St. Mirren at Paisley. Aberdeen once more touched the winning line by means of a 2-0 victory over Hamilton Academical.

Goals Galore
It is either "a case of a famine" at Stark's Park, Kirkcaldy, or Saturday there were goals in hand. When Hibernians beat Third Lanark 4-1, the Rovers have now scored more goals than any other First Division club to date.

Third Lanark have struck a bad patch this season; the Cathkines men have scored only one goal in their division bogey must be haunting them.

Motherwell and Dundee took part in a big scoring match at Fir Park, where the Steelboys won by 4-2. As Dundee was beaten at home 4-1 by Rangers a week ago, it is evident the Dens Park defence is in need of stiffening up.

Auld Kilmarnock had a narrow win over the Falkirk "Hairs" by 2-1, and Clyde inflicted more trouble on Clydebank by 2-0. When Clydebank will gain their first win it is hard to say, but their turn will surely come.

The league standings follow:

YOKOHAMA BEGINS TO RECOVER SELF

STEAMERS NOW ABLE TO SECURE WATER AT JAPAN PORT

Admiral Oriental Line Halls for the Orient With Portable Houses for Disaster Zone

Conditions in Yokohama are improving, according to messages to local steamship companies from Japan. However, the facilities for storage of cargo and passengers are still poor and cargo has to be stored for the most part in the open. Steamers can secure two hundred tons of fresh water per ship. Railroad communication with Tokyo has been resumed. There are no accommodations for passengers at Yokohama, however. At Tokyo the situation is fair. No cargo is being accepted on through bills of lading for Tokyo, however, on account of transfer conditions at Yokohama and the fact that railway conditions are not yet normal between the two cities.

Portable houses for Yokohama went out on the Admiral Oriental liner President Madison, which sailed for Japan and China last night. They will help to house the hundreds of thousands of homeless victims of the earthquake.

The vessel left with a passenger list of 375 for various ports in the Far East. On arrival from Seattle late yesterday afternoon at the Government docks, Oden Point, she picked up some storage passengers and baggage, and put to sea at 6:45 p.m. for Yokohama.

NIPPON CREW LOADS VESSEL AT ALBERNI

Koshen Maru Leaves West Coast Port—Sailors Work the Ship When Stevedores Strike

PORT ALBERNI, Oct. 17.—The steamer Koshen Maru left for Vancouver yesterday afternoon to complete loading lumber for Japan. She arrived about two weeks ago at the Alberni Pacific Lumber Company plant, where a large shipment was to be taken aboard. A shipmate from the Spratt Lumber Mill was to be loaded, also. Loading was proceeding when the longshoremen's strike was called. Work was stopped for several days in the hope that some settlement would be arrived at between the longshoremen and the stevedoring company, but as there seemed no prospect of a settlement the crew of the boat completed the loading, finishing their work yesterday morning, and the boat left immediately for Vancouver.

Blue Funnel Steamer Arrives from Orient

The Philoctetes, Captain J. Propert, of the Blue Funnel Line, arrived from the Orient yesterday afternoon. A number of Chinese passengers from Hong Kong landed here before the vessel proceeded to Seattle later in the day. Captain Propert reported some bad weather off the coast, heavy gales making progress difficult for the several days immediately prior to making port. The Philoctetes was at Yokohama when the great earthquake happened, but escaped unharmed, according to her officers. She was the first vessel to make her way out of the crowded and wrecked inner harbor to safety beyond the breakwaters.

Rum-running Ring Warned Andrew Johansen He Would Die, Charges Drowned Man's Friend

SEATTLE, Oct. 17.—That members of one of the best financed liquor smuggling rings operating across the Canadian border had threatened Andrew Johansen with death several weeks before Johansen and Ludvig Holten, his associate rum runner, were found dead on the beach at Dumas Bay, was disclosed today by John C. Calhoun, Los Angeles architect, who believes both Holten and Johansen were murdered.

Calhoun is the husband of Johansen's former wife. He says he is prepared to spend $25,000 to prove that Johansen and Holten were the victims of the smugglers and pirates with whom they were competing.

Prosecutor Malcolm Douglas told Calhoun when the latter called on him yesterday that he would lend every possible assistance to running down clues found by Calhoun.

A number of the men returning on the Ruby went to Siberia last spring aboard the motorship Maxatka, expecting to develop valuable mining properties in Kamchatka. It was like chasing the rainbow, but the refugees said, as they were not permitted to mine in Kamchatka, which they had been told was fabulously rich in gold and other metals. They were not permitted to engage in any other kind of work in Siberia and soon were destitute.

Those arriving on the Ruby are John Norberg, Ernest Kuhn, Magnus Johnson, Elaf K. Victor, Olof Honohli, Alex. John Hansen, Frank Magvill, Carl Lofdash, Roy Picton, Mrs. Picton and Daley Picton. Also aboard the Ruby was Leo Willenberg, of the trading firm of Erdenevsky & Willenberg, and his wife.

Chartered to the Hudson's Bay Company the Ruby sailed from Seattle May 19 and from Vancouver, September 30 in which she carried supplies from British Columbia to the Hudson's Bay trading posts in Siberia.

Collision Delays Ship; Passengers Are Barred

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Pathetic scenes were witnessed at the Cunard piers yesterday when 166 immigrants in excess of the October quota were denied admission to the United States and returned overseas. Most of those deported were British subjects, including failed to reach the United States in time for admission under the quota because of a collision at sea on September 30 in which the Cunard liner Seythia was damaged.

Among the mothers on the pier was Mrs. Margaret Bishet, of Aberdeen, Scotland. She arrived on the Seythia, having lost her only child, a boy, aged seven and five years, who had to leave today, afraid that their health will not let them survive the trip.

Bishet's husband is in Boston, having arrived six weeks ago to make a home for his family.

YARMOUTH, N. S., Oct. 17.—"One hundred cases will cost you." Captain John H. Gannon commenced his remarks in the cabin of the liquor-laden schooner Dominion Packet.

"Will cost us nothing," a man with a gun whispered to him.

Two honest fishermen of a moment ago had become pirates, "rum pirates," and they each had a gun.

He could do nothing, and he did it. The pirates could take $34,000.

Skipper Sims relates he lost $36,000 on that fateful day.

RETAIL MERCHANTS STATE OBJECTIONS

He also asked the delegation if the principle they were advocating as applied to personal property should also apply to real property. He inquired whether, if the principle of ability to pay was the basis of the demand for the abolition of the personal property tax, the same principle should not apply to the tax on land.

Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, pointed out that under present conditions when the amount of a merchant's income tax exceeded that of the personal property tax, the personal property tax was not charged.

Association President Speaks

Mr. D. H. Kent, president of the provincial board of the Retail Merchants' Association, on being introduced, pointed out that during the last night, stated that during the audience at the Parliament Buildings yesterday, Hon. Mr. Hart had asserted that his opinions had not changed since 1919 when, according to Mr. Kent, he made the following statement to the Victoria Chamber of Commerce:

"Personally, I don't like the idea of the personal property tax. There is a chance that those who are called on to pay it might actually have incurred a loss in their business. This is not fair. It seems to me that we could find a way of bringing in taxes from those people who contribute nothing, but who enjoy all the benefits of those who are subject to taxation."

Mr. Kent, continuing, stated that Premier Oliver, in spite of evidence submitted by the representatives of the Retail Merchants' Association, complied from reports of various national and provincial taxation authorities, including Dr. H. Brittain, Prof. Adam Shortt, Prof. Seligman (Columbia University), Prof. Adams (Yale), Prof. Bullock (Harvard) and the taxation commissions of Manitoba and British Columbia, was not yet convinced that the personal property tax should be abolished.

Ask for Equitable Treatment

The delegation pointed out that the Retail Merchants' Association was not asking for reduced taxation, but that the taxes on business be collected in a more equitable manner, and offered suggestions whereby any loss incurred by the Government in abolishing the personal property tax could be made up by modifying the present method of collecting.

Premier Oliver promised to present the question to the Liberal caucus before and immediately after the opening of the session of the Legislature. Mr. Kent asserted, since, therefore, the individual members of the Liberal party will have large influence in determining whether or not this method of collecting funds will be changed for the business of British Columbia, the provincial executive of the Retail Merchants' Association has convened with the officers of the Victoria branch of the organization and have adopted plans to inform each member of the Legislature of the necessity for immediate action to secure relief.

The attention of the association will be directed chiefly towards the Government supporters in the Legislature. It was stated, since Hon. Mr. Bower, leader of the opposition, was quoted as saying on February 4, 1922, that he would pledge his cooperation to the Retail Merchants' Association to do what he could when before the Legislature, to see if some change could not be made to relieve the businessmen from the unpopular form of taxation.

It was mentioned here, stated Mr. Kent, that the new Provincial Party is appealing for support with the abolition of the personal property tax as a plank in its platform.

It was announced by the delegation that a questionnaire had been sent to the merchants of the Province asking how many would be prepared to come to Victoria during the coming session in order to fight against the tax and urge its abolition. Three hundred merchants had already replied, and the willingness to be present to carry on the fight, it was stated.

Those who composed the delegation, which it was claimed represented over a thousand businessmen of the Province, were: Mr. D. H. Kent, president of the provincial board of the Retail Merchants' Association; Mr. J. T. Crowder, Dominion representative of the National Retail Merchants' Association; Mr. J. H. Ashwell, of Chilliwack, representing merchants of the Fraser Valley; Mr. J. H. Stevenson, of the Victoria branch of the association; and Mr. W. F. Ing, of Vancouver, provincial secretary.

MINISTER SAYS PLAN IS MOST FANTASTIC

The Union of B.C. Municipalities, he continued, had suggested various expedients in regard to educational expenses that the Provincial Government bear the whole cost.

Would Shift Control

This would simply mean that the Provincial authorities would have to increase their tax bill by that amount. If the Government collected the taxes for school purposes, what would administer them? Did anyone suppose he would hand over the money for school boards to administer? asked Mr. MacLean. The business way was for the man who spent the money to direct the policy. "It would bring the whole educational system into the arena of party politics," he asserted, after pointing out that what would happen in the event of an unscrupulous government gaining power. "It is the most fantastic, most retrograde suggestion ever made by a body of public men," declared the Minister.

It had been suggested that the school boards were extravagant and were not fit to manage the business of the schools, he went on.

"They want a council committee to handle school affairs," he explained. "I don't approve of that." He had spent two weeks investigating to ascertain if the plan was in force anywhere else in the world, and he failed to find a single case. In a matter of this sort he did not care to set a precedent.

Record of Councils

What was the record of municipal councils? asked the Minister. His belief was that public utilities, be they water works, or street car systems, should pay their way. Last year municipalities of British Columbia had lost $266,000 through public utilities. There was a shortage of five and a half million dollars in sinking funds. Only ten per cent of the debt of municipalities was due to schools. "When a man comes to you and says that you are spending too much and sending the country to the bow-wow, show him these figures," suggested the speaker.

Dr. MacLean said that he was willing that an educational survey of the Province be made if there was sufficient local demand. Outside of Vancouver and neighborhood, however, there had been little request for such a survey. If it was simply a matter of stock-taking, he would not say that his department was continually stock-taking. If the aim was to graft on to the present system things still in the experimental stage, he would not agree, no matter how many surveys might be held. Any survey should be by the citizens of British Columbia or Canada, he added.

After explaining the new changes in the British Columbia system, the Minister expressed appreciation of the work of the trustees. He thought that to pay them for their services would be to weaken the boards.
